PREFATORY NOTE

THE Editorial Committee have pleasure in issuing the Fifth Volume of the Fasts. Their labours in connection with this Volume—the largest yet published—have again been attended with some difficulty, arising chiefly from the lack of information in the Separate Registers. In many instances these Registers have not been systematically kept, and important blanks have been noted. As far as possible, however, the Committee have been able to supply the necessary information from a variety of sources, not least from the Registers and Documents within H.M. General Register House, whose officials have given ready and courteous access thereto. Information has also been derived from numerous private individuals in various parts of the world, and volumes dealing with Local and Family History have been carefully consulted. Churchyard epitaphs have been examined, and newspaper notices have been considerably gleaned. Pains have been taken to verify all that has been recorded, and where discrepancies have occurred—mostly in the matter of proper names and dates—the official Registers have been accepted as authority.

The Committee desire to express their thanks to the Clerks of the different Presbyteries; also to the Rev. William Stephen, Inverkeithing, for help with the Presb. of Dunfermline, the Rev. W. H. Porter, Cults, the Presb. of Cupar, Professor Sir Peter R. Scott Lang, the Presb. of St Andrews, the Rev. William Wilson, Airlie, the Presb. of Meigle, the Rev. Robert Hall, Rescobie, the Presb. of Forfar, the Rev. W. S. Buchan, Liff, and the Rev. T. D. Meredith, Inchtute, the Presb. of Dundee, the Rev. R. C. Mitchell, Fern, the Presb. of Brechin, and the Rev. William Stephen, Garvock, the Presb. of Fordoun.

The Volume has been brought down to the eve of publication.

October 1924.

SYNOD OF FIFE

THE Register of the Synod of Fife begins at 2nd April 1639. There is a gap in the Record from 9th April 1657 to 22nd July 1690.

PRESBYTERY OF DUNFERMLINE

[In April 1581, when the General Assembly was much occupied with the organising of local ecclesiastical administration, one of the places chosen for the site of a Presbytery was Dunfermline. The Register of this Presbytery, as now extant, begins at 21st April 1647. There was a volume of earlier date, covering the period from 20th July 1582 to July 1662. On 3rd Dec. 1662 it passed into the hands of Andrew Honyman, Archdeacon of St Andrews, but of it nothing further is known. There are gaps in the Record from 12th May to 2nd June 1647, from 18th Sept. 1672 to 24th July 1689, and from 15th July 1691 to 14th Oct. 1696. From 7th April 1692 till about the end of the seventeenth century the Presbyteries of Dunfermline and Kirkcaldy were united. In 1856, on the erection of the Presbytery of Kinross, the parishes of Cleish, Kinross, and Orwell were transferred thereto.]

ABERDOUR.

[The fine old church of Aberdour, now ruined, was dedicated to St Fillan. It belonged to the Abbey of Inchcolm. The church is about seventy feet long. St Fillan's Well is near it. In the town was an hospital of St Martha, founded 22nd July 1474 by James, Earl of Morton, which was afterwards a convent of the Sisters of the Third Order of St Francis. Beside it was St Martha's Well. A fair of St Columba was held at Aberdour. The Augustinian Abbey of St Columba at Inchcolm was founded by King Alexander I. in 1123. The monastic buildings are still very extensive, and their oblong, light-grey mass, surmounted by a tall, square, central tower, forms a commanding object as seen from the shores of the Firth of Forth, or from the heights of Edinburgh. The stone-roofed octagonal chapter-house is one of the most beautiful and perfect in Scotland, and the abbot's house, the cloisters, and refectory are comparatively entire.]

JOHN PATERSON, was reader from 1567 1567 to 1580; pres. to the vicarage
of this parish by James VI. 23rd March 1573.—[Reg. Min.; Wodrow and Maitland Miscell., iii.]

PETER BLACKWOOD, adm. before 1566 27th Jan. 1566-7; pres. to the vicarage by James VI. 19th Sept. 1571, which he dem. before 23rd March 1573.
About the same time Saline, Auchtertool, Dalgety, and Inverkeithing were under his care; he was a member of Assembly April 1581; nominated by the Assembly in succeeding Oct. one of those for establishing a Presb. in the west of Fife; continued in 1586, in which year, according to the editor of the Minutes of the Synod of Fife, he was trans. to Aberdeen; died between 3rd and 20th May 1587. He marr. (1) Katherine, daugh. of Robert Stewart, burgess of Dunfermline, and grand-daugh. of William Stewart of Rosyth, and had issue—Henry:
(2) Marjory Cumming, and had issue—

1587; Archibald, born 1576.—[Anstruther Sess. Reg.; Booke of the Kirk; Hist. Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 186; Reg. of Deeds, xxi. 413*b*, viii. 434, xxxi. 355*b*; Reg. Sec. Sig., lv., 67; Fife Inhib., 25th Aug., 29th Nov. 1588; Moray Writs, Box i., Nos. 55, 42.]

ANDREW KIRK, M.A. (St Andrews);
1587 pres. to the vicarage of the parish in 1587, having been reader at Muckhart, 1567-86, also reader at Aberdour and Dalgety; pres. to the parish of Fossoway in 1588, but on examination the Presb. adjudged him "not meit thane to be admitted, in respect of the invaliditie of his doctrine"; app. to Glendevon 1591-2.—[Aberdour and Inchcolme, 216-17.]

JOHN FAIRFOUL, entered as exhorter at Candlemas 1571, and in 1587-8 that capacity acted along with Walter Balcanqual; was schoolmaster at Dunfermline 1st July 1584; adm. before 4th Feb. 1587-8; pres. to the vicarage of Dalgety and Beath by James VI. before 4th Feb. 1594; trans. to Dunfermline in 1598.

PATRICK CARMICHAEL, M.A., trans.
1602 from Soutra; adm. in 1602; he petitioned the General Assembly in Nov. that year to divide the stipend of Dalgety and Aberdour and cause half of it to be given to him, but he was adjudged only the vicarage; trans. to Oxnam 25th March 1610.

WILLIAM PATON of Lochhead, brother
1611 of John P. of Middle Ballilisk; educated at Univ. of St Andrews; M.A. (1585); min. of Makerstoun in 1588; trans. to Orwell before 22nd March 1592; trans. to Dalgety in 1598. In 1611 he had charge of Beath, Aberdour, and Dalgety; was named by the King in 1610 a member of Assembly, and received 50 merks for his services; acquired Raith which he sold to Lord Wemyss; removed from Dalgety before 1614, at which time that parish and Beath were also in the charge; his death in 1634 was caused by a fall. He marr. Jean Balcanqual, and had issue—James; John, skinner burges of Edinburgh; William;

Margaret (marr. Henry Johnston) and Jean, both of these were acting as teachers in Aberdour in 1661.—[Reg. Assig.; Row's Hist.; Reg. of Deeds, cvii., 218, 16th Oct. 1626, 15th Jan. 1652; Family of Wemyss, i., 226; Fife Sas., vi., 635, 129; Moray Writs, Box xix., No. 9; *Aberdour Sess. WALTER STEWART, trans. from 1635 Rousay and Egilshay; pres. by Charles I. 18th March 1635; trans. to South Ronaldshay and Burray in 1636.

ROBERT BRUCE of Kincavil [now
1637 Kingscavil], Linlithgow, born about 1607, third son of Sir John B. of Kincavil; pres. by Charles I., the charge consisting of Aberdour, Dalgety, and Beath, 31st March 1637. At that time he sided with Episcopacy. In 1638 he joined the Covenanting Party, but in 1662 he again conformed to Episcopacy. He was a member of the Commission of Assembly in 1645; was under suspension for some reason in 1646, and became Elimosinar or Almoner to the King 12th March that year; died between 12th and 22nd Feb. 1667 after a lengthened illness. He was proprietor of Pitkeny, Mitchelston, and part of Strathore, and owned various tenements in Dysart. During part of his ministry he had as assistants William Cochrane, afterwards min. of Cross and Burness, Orkney, and William Smyth, afterwards of Queensferry (?). He marr. Janet (died at Burntisland, Oct. 1668), daugh. of Captain Andrew Watson, Burntisland, sister of John W. of Dunnikier, and widow of Andrew Ayton of Kinglassie.—[St Andrews Tests.; *Reg. Sec. BEATH.

[The church of Beath belonged to the Abbey of Inchcolm. It is mentioned as a parish in 1574. It was, however, the last in being settled. It is stated in the Session-book that "when all the congregations of Fyfe were planted, this poore kirke was neglected and overlooked after the Reformation eighty years. The poore parishioners being lyke wandering sheep without a shepherd, and whair they should have conveened to hear a pastoure preiche, the principal cause of the people's meetings was to heare a pyper play upone the Lord's daye, which was the daye of their profaine mirth, not being in the workes of their calling. Sathane had a most faire name amongst them, stirring many of them up to dancing, playing at football, and excessive drinking, falling out and wounding one another, which was the exercise of the youngest sort, and the older sort played at gems, and the workes of their calling without any distinction of the weeke daye from the daye of the Lord." The church was rebuilt in 1640, chiefly through the exertions of Alexander Colvill of Blair. John Row, min. of Carnock, attended the Committee in Edinburgh 17th July 1642, for the disjunction of the kirks of Aberdour, Dalgety, and Beath, and so this parish was re-erected in 1643.]

ALEXANDER STEVEN, formerly one 1574 of the monks of Dunfermline Abbey, reader from 1574 to 1579.—[Acts and Decrets, lxvi., 396.]

HENRY SMITH, M.A. (St Andrews, 1644 1620); went to Ireland, where he held a charge; returned to Scotland and was settled at Second Charge, Culross, before 20th March 1641; adm. here 15th
May 1644; pres. by Charles I. 15th Feb. 1645; died before 17th Feb. 1673. He marr. Marjorie Sands, and had issue—Marjorie, bapt. 20th March 1641; John, born 1643; Alexander, born 1645; James.
One of his sons was a bursar at the New College, St Andrews, in 1664.—[Dunferm-
line and Aberdour Sess. Reg.; Reg. Sec.

CARNOCK.

[The old church of Carnock, whose ruins still stand in the churchyard, belonged to the Ministry of the Red Friars at Scotlandwell. It is said that there was in this parish an early dedication to St Cearnach.]

RICHARD BROWN, acted as reader 1567 from 1567 to 1576.

PETER BLACKWOOD, min. of Saline, 1571 etc., had also charge of this parish, being adm. in 1571.

DAVID FERGUSON, min. of Dunfermline, had also the care of 1574 Carnock.

JOHN BAXTER, formerly a monk of 1578 Dunfermline Abbey, reader from 1578 to 1580.—[Acts and Decrees, lxvi., 396.]

JAMES STEWART, min. here in conjunction with Saline about 1584, but 1584 removed there in 1589 or the following year, retaining, however, the charge of Carnock till 1592.

JOHN ROW, born Perth, his baptism is 1592 recorded as having taken place 6th Jan. 1568-9, third son of John R., the Reformer, min. of Perth; educated by his father, he was so precocious that he knew Hebrew at the age of seven, and read daily after dinner or supper portions of the Old Testament in the original. On the death of his father in 1580, his brother William and he received friar's pensions from the King's Hospital at Perth. At fifteen he became schoolmaster of Kenno-way and tutor to his cousins, sons of Beaton of Balfour, whom he accompanied to Edinburgh Univ. in 1586, where he graduated M.A. 1st Aug. 1590. Shortly afterwards he was elected schoolmaster of Aberdour, and was tutor to William, Earl of Morton. He continued his studies in divinity, and towards the end of 1592 he was ord. to this charge. He was one of the forty-five mins. who signed a Protest to Parliament, 1st July 1606, against Episcopacy, and in the same year, at Linlithgow, he met with the mins. who were to be put on their trial for holding the Assembly at Aberdeen in disobedience to the King's command. In 1616 he declined a presentation to Aberdour, and later, a call to Culross. In 1619, and again on 29th Dec. 1621, he was summoned before the Court of High Commission for non-conformity and opposition to Prelacy. He was prevented by illness from obeying the former summons, but was represented by a son and a nephew. Sir George Bruce of Carnock also intervened on his behalf and sent a letter by one of his servants, Richard Christie, to the Archbishop. The Archbishop deposed two mins. but dealt more leniently with Row, who was simply "confined to his own congregation." Richard Christie claimed as much credit for the light sentence as Row's other friends: "After sundry arguments, Christie came on with one weightie argument," saying, "thir coals in your mines are very evil, and my master (Bruce) hath very many good coals: send up a vessel every year to Culross, and I shall see her laden with good coals." After Row had been restricted to his small parish he organised the Communion services which gave Carnock a celebrity among the parishes of Scotland. This it retained for upwards of two hundred years. At a Communion in 1635 it is said there were no fewer than seventeen tables. Row was a member of the Glasgow Assembly of 1638, when he was app. one of a committee of mins. "come to years" to enquire—from personal knowledge of the handwriting of clerks and their own recollection of events—into the authenticity of certain Assembly Records which had been missing for some time, the result being that their genuineness was established. By the same Assembly he was named one of a committee for considering such constitutions and laws "as might prevent corruptions in the future, like those which had troubled the Kirk in the past." He died 26th June 1646, after a few days' illness, and was buried at the east end of Carnock Church, where a monumental stone was erected to his memory. This monument is surmounted by a Scottish thistle, immediately over which are the Hebrew words for "The Last House," and the following Latin inscription: "Hic Jacet M. Jo. Row, Pastor hujus ecclesiæ fidelissimus: vixit acerrimus veritatis et fœderis Scotici assertor: hierarchias pseudo-episcopalis et Romanorum rituum cordicitus osor: in frequenti symmistarum apostasia cubi instar constantissimus." In "Memorials of the Family of Row" [in MS.] there is to be found this other epitaph:

"Though bald with age, and prest with weight,
In crooked times this man went straight:
His pen kept hid things on record
For which the Prelats him abhorr'd:
And his Carnock, his little quarter
For Canterbury he would not barter."

He marr. 4th Jan. 1595 Grizel (died 30th Jan. 1659), described as "a verie comelie and beautifull young woman," daugh. of David Fergusson, min. of Dunfermline, and had issue—David, a min. in Ireland, "who was obliged to return to Scotland after a residence of twenty-five years, fifteen of which he had spent in the ministry, with a wife and five children without means of support, because of persecution and oppression from Papists who burned, slew, and did all the hurt they could to those that fled not"; John, Principal of King's College, Aberdeen (q.v.); Robert, min. of Abercorn; William, min. of Ceres; Katherine (marr. (1) cont. 1st Sept. 1627, Robert Alison, merchant burgess, Dunfermline: (2) John Messone, burgess of Culross); Elizabeth (marr. cont. 4th April 1623, William Gibbon, indweller in Bannhaird); Margaret (marr. David Robertson, of Murton-Elginch, and was great-great-grandmother of Principal Robertson, the historian). THOMAS MARSHALL, a native of Montrose; educated at the Univ. and King's College, Aberdeen; M.A. (17th July 1668); adm. 27th Aug. 1679;

deprived by Privy Council, 4th Sept. 1689, for not reading the Proclamation of the Estates, and not praying for William and Mary, but for King James, and "hoping to see him in his throne before Lammass." He marr. Jean Craford, and had issue—Christian.

WILLIAM INNES, called in March, 1693 and ord. 18th Oct. 1693; trans. to Thurso May 1696.

JAMES HOG, born about 1658, son of 1699 Thomas H., min. of Larbert; educated at Univ. of Edinburgh (M.A. 1677) and in Holland (probably Utrecht); licen. by Presb. of Edinburgh; ord. to Dalsersf 20th Jan. 1691. He declined to take the Oath of Allegiance in 1693. In 1695 he was elected a member of Assembly but refused the necessary oaths, upon which the Lord High Commissioner (John, Lord Carmichael) objected to his taking his seat. Entreated by his friends either to take the oaths or retire, he agreed to the latter course, on condition that the Assembly should "attest his diligence" [certify as to his attendance]. Through ill-health, he dem. 30th March 1697, but was adm. to this charge 23rd Aug. 1699. In 1711 he was a candidate for the Chair of Divinity at Marischal College, Aberdeen. He died in Edinburgh, 14th May 1734. He is best remembered for his connection with the "Marrow" Controversy. He republished in 1718 Edward Fisher's Marrow of Modern Divinity, to which his attention had been drawn by Thomas Boston, who had found the book in the house of one of his Simprin flock. Hog was one of the twelve protesters against an Act of Assembly which condemned the work, 20th May 1720, and enjoined ministers to warn their people not to read it. He marr., and had issue—Alison (marr. William Hunter, min. of Lilliesleaf); Janet (marr. Daniel Hunter, min. of this parish). Publications—Remarks concerning the Spirit's Operation, and the difference betwixt the Law and the Gospel (Edinburgh, 1701)—issued also as Notes about the Spirit's Operations for discovering from the Word their Nature and Evidence (Edinburgh,

1709); A Casuistical Essay upon the Lord's Prayer, to which is subjoined A Letter to a Friend (Edinburgh, 1705); A Letter to a Friend, containing diverse Remarks concerning the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper (Edinburgh, 1706); Some Select Notes towards detecting a correct mixture of the Covenant of Works and of Grace (Edinburgh, 1706-18); The Covenants of Redemption and Grace displayed (Edinburgh, 1707); Otia Christiana, or Christian Recreations (Edinburgh, 1708; Aberdeen, 1776) [in the First Edition the author's signature appears in error at the end of the Preface as "John Hog"]; Some Remarks about Submission to the Sovereign disposal of the God of the Spirits of all Flesh (Edinburgh, 1709); Notes about Saving Illumination (n.d., also reprinted at Aberdeen, 1778); A Letter to a Gentleman, in which the Unlawfulness of imposing Forms of Prayer, and other Acts of Worship, is plainly Demonstrated (Edinburgh, 1710) [answered by Robert Calder in An Answer to Mr James Hog (Edinburgh, 1710)]; A Letter to a Person exercised to Godliness about our Natural Enmity (Edinburgh, 1714); An Abstract of Sundry Discourses on Job XXXVI., 8, 9, 10 (Edinburgh, 1714; Aberdeen, 1778); Abstract of two private Discourses on Mark IX., 23 (Edinburgh, 1715); Remarks concerning the Rooting, Growth, and Ripeness of a Work of Grace in the Soul (Edinburgh, 1715); An Essay to vindicate some Scripture Truths [against Professor Simson] (Edinburgh, 1716); A Letter to a Gentleman detecting the gangrene of some Errors vented at this Time (Edinburgh, 1716); Abstract of Discourses on Psalm XLI., 4 (Edinburgh, 1716); Letter to a private Christian on Gospel Holiness (Edinburgh, n.d.); Three Missives written to a Minister of the Gospel, in answer to one from him [an anti-Separatist tract] (Edinburgh, 1717, the first of those missives was reprinted at Edinburgh in 1893); The Right of Church Members to choose their own Overseers (Edinburgh, 1717); The Marrow of Modern Divinity [by Edward Fisher], edited with Preface (Edinburgh, 1718); A Vindication of the Doctrine of Janet (died 28th May 1752), daugh. of James Hog, min. of this parish, and had issue—James; Isabella, born 1732; Mary, born 1733; John, born 1735; Archibald; Thomas, born 1737; Janet. Publication—Answer to Campbell's Discourse proving that the Apostles were no Enthusiasts (perhaps jointly with preceding).—[Wodrow's Anal.]

THOMAS GILLESPIE, born Clearburn, parish of Duddingston, 1708, son 1741 of a farmer; educated at Univ. of Edinburgh. Purposing to enter the ministry of the Secession Church, he went to Perth to study divinity under William Wilson at the Secession Hall there, but disliking the views propounded he stayed only ten days, after which he attended a Theological Academy at Northampton, presided over by Philip Doddridge, D.D.; licen. by a Presbyterian Classis or Presbytery [or, according to Struthers, by Doddridge and a number of independent mins.] in England 30th Oct. 1740; ord. min. of a congregation in the north of England 22nd Jan. 1741. He returned to Scotland in March, was pres. to this parish by Colonel Erskine of Carnock, called 7th May, and adm. 4th Sept. that year. When signing the "Confession of Faith" he took exception to chapter xxiii., in which are defined the powers of the civil magistrate. With five co-presbyters he opposed the settlement of Andrew Richardson at Inverkeithing, refusing to implement the orders of the Assembly for his induction in May 1752, and submitting a Representation in terms of the Act of 25th May 1736, which set forth, "that it is, and has been since the Reformation, the principle of this Church, that no minister shall be intruded into any parish contrary to the will of the congregation." An agreement might have been come to under modifications proposed by three of G.'s brethren, but G. himself stood firm and produced a second paper re-affirming his position. By a majority of forty-six, the General Assembly determined that to punish the contumacy of the Presbytery, one of its members should be deposed, and in a sederunt of fifty-six mins. and elders, fifty-two voted for G.'s deposition, 23rd May 1752. He remained at the bar, listened to the Moderator (Patrick Cuming, D.D.) pronouncing sentence, and made this reply: "I desire to receive this sentence of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland pronounced against me with real concern, and awful impressions of the divine conduct in it: but I rejoice that to me it is given on behalf of Christ, not only to believe in Him, but also to suffer for His sake." It is said that G. returned to Carnock late on the night of the Saturday of his deposition. His wife, not expecting his return, had gone to bed. When he knocked at the door for admittance, she rose, went to the window, and desired to know who was there. "The deposed minister of Carnock," was the reply. On getting inside the house, he said, "I am no longer minister of Carnock," and to that his wife answered, "Well, if we must beg, I will carry the meal-pock." The next day a vast crowd assembled at Carnock from all parts, but instead of preaching in the church, a service was held in the churchyard, G. taking for his text the words: "Necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the Gospel!" For four months he continued to preach in the fields till a meeting-house was opened at Dunfermline. On 22nd Oct. 1761, the Presb. of Relief (i.e. for the relief of Christians oppressed in their Church privileges) was founded by G. and two other mins.—Thomas Boston, the younger, and Thomas Colier, min. at Colinsburgh, with an elder from each of their Sessions. G. died 19th Jan. 1774. He was a conscientious and painstaking min., single-minded, devoid of personal ambition in the matter of his ecclesiastical convictions, somewhat uncouth and nervous in his public appearances. He literally wore himself out with his indefatigable labours. It has been stated that in his later years he desired to return to the Church of Scotland, and that on his deathbed he advised his adherents to get his meeting-house received as a chapel-of-ease. This, however, is strenuously denied, and there is no direct evidence for a statement made chiefly on the authority of John Erskine, D.D. He marr. 19th Nov. 1744, Margaret (died s.p. 27th April 1787), daugh. of John Riddell, physician, Edinburgh. CULROSS.

[The original parish church of Culross, dating from a very early period and now a ruin, is situated in a field about three-quarters of a mile to the west of the burgh, and is surrounded by a very interesting graveyard. To the north of the church, on the farm of the Ashes, is a spring designated the Monk's Well. It does not appear that the church was ever used for Protestant worship, for the Act of Parliament of 1633 which decreed that the abbey church be that of the parish, states not only that the said abbey church had been used for the service of the cure since the Reformation, but also that "the kirk callit the parochie kirke of Culross is ane old kirk quhairne service is not, nor hes not beine usit since memorie of man, and is altogether ruinous, decayit, and falline down in divers parts."]

Dedicated to the Virgin Mary and St Serf, the Cistercian Abbey of Culross was founded in 1217 by Malcolm, Earl of Fife. It was much resorted to by pilgrims of all classes, and possessed great buildings. The abbey church, as now in use, is about eighty feet in length, with transepts and a stately tower. On the east side of the tower stands the church just alluded to, which has been continuously in use since the thirteenth century. On the west side are traces of what was undoubtedly a church, for centuries a ruin. As the tower is built from the ground and not arched, it must have divided the complete church into two. In 1905 the eastern portion underwent a large scheme of restoration which has revealed its internal beauties. At the same time many interesting discoveries were made. At the south-eastern boundary of the abbey grounds and close to the public road stood the chapel of St Mungo, erected in 1503 by Robert Blackadder, Archbishop of Glasgow. It probably took the place of an earlier foundation, the site being the place, so tradition runs, where St Thenew, after landing from her frail boat, gave birth to St Mungo. In 1641 a Second Charge was founded for this parish. In 1672, the barony of Kincardine-on-Forth and the lands of Lurg, Sands, and Kellywood were disjoined from Culross, and added to the parish of Tulliallan. Fairs of St Serf and St Matthew were held at Culross.]

JOHN DYKES, min. in 1567, Tulliallan 1567 being also in the charge; he was a member of the Assembly Aug. 1571, March 1572, Aug. 1574, and of the Convention 12th Jan. 1571. In 1574 Crombie and Tulliallan were in the charge. A libel, raised against him by the Laird of Tulliallan, was found by the Assembly in 1577 to be not proven. He was a member of Assembly April and Oct. 1581, and May 1586. In 1589 he was named by the Privy Council one of the Commissioners for the Preservation of the True Religion in the sheriffdoms of Clackmannan and Kinross, and is last mentioned here in 1591; was pres. by Queen Anne 28th Jan. 1606 to Newburn parish, vacant by transportation of Andrew Hunter 23rd Nov. 1593. During his ministry, John Forest was reader 1580-1.—[Reg. Min. and Assig.; Booke of the Kirk; *Stirling Presb. ROBERT COLVILLE of Nether Kinneddar, born about 1560, son of 1593 Alexander C., commendator of Culross, and brother of James C. of Balbedie; min. in 1593 but had been apparently ord. to a parish (unidentified) within the Presb. of Linlithgow; he was one of those who met with the brethren at Linlithgow before their trial in 1606, for holding an Assembly at Aberdeen against the King's orders; signed, with forty-one others, a Protestation to Parliament, 1st July that year, against the introduction of Episcopacy, and was one of fifty-five who signed a Protestation to Parliament in behalf of the Liberties of the Kirk, 27th June 1617. He was still min. 13th July 1629, though obliged to have the services of an assistant [Robert Melville], when he probably retired to Kinghorn. He died 25th Feb. 1631. He marr. Catherine Melville, and had issue—Robert of Kinneddar, served heir 5th Dec. 1640 and 8th May 1649; Jean (marr. his successor at Culross); Katherine (marr. cont. 30th Oct. 1637, James, son of James Aiken of Middle Grange).—[Stirling Presb.; Calderwood's Hist., v. 268, vi. 376, 454, 457, vii. 256; Livingstone's Charac.; *Inq. JOHN DUNCAN, M.A. (St Andrews, 1632 1619); adm. to Saline about 1629; pres. by Charles I. 25th March; trans. and adm. in 1632. A letter of 18th March from Adam, Bishop of Dunblane, to George Bruce of Culross, whose influence had been used in favour of Duncan, indicates that there was opposition to the settlement. He was a member of the Glasgow Assembly in 1638, and of the Assemblies 1642-8; had a pension from the King 2nd Sept. 1641, which was confirmed by Parliament 17th Nov. following. From Nov. 1646 to the close of 1647 he was "in the camp of General Leslie at Newcastle," and he was also a member of the Commission appointed by Parliament for visiting the colleges of St Andrews 16th Jan. 1649. After being laid aside nearly twelve months from public duty, he died 25th March 1655, aged about 56. He marr. Jean Colville (died before 12th Dec. 1678), daugh. of preceding min., and had issue—John, min. of Rerrick, served heir 31st Dec. 1655; Bessie Duncan (marr. 26th Dec. 1640, at Culross, George Thomson, min. of Kilmun) was probably a daugh.—[*Dunf. MATTHEW FLEMING, M.A. (Glasgow, 1643); became tutor to Lord 1656 James, son of William, Marquess of Douglas; called in April, and adm. 24th Dec. 1656; pres. 4th Oct. 1662, and that year he was confined to his parish for non-conformity to Episcopacy. His name appears, however, in Wodrow's list of ejected mins. in 1663. He had Alexander, Lord Montgomerie, with him to board; still min. 20th Sept. 1673, at which time he was serving both charges, and was alive March 1677, though not in the charge, which was vacant in 1675.—[Lanark Presb.; *Edin. 1676 Second Charge, Linlithgow, 1676; trans. to Monymusk in 1678.

[Both this, as well as the Second Charge, 1680 were vacant in 1679, when James Ramsay, Bishop of Dunblane, undertook the "ministerial charge" of Culross. In 1680, the Privy Council granted him the vacant stipend for crop in 1679 to the extent of 1000 merks for the repair of the manse, in which he was residing.]—[Privy Council Reg., 3rd ser., vi., 579, 18th Nov. 1680.]

ROBERT WRIGHT, born about 1650, 1684 son of Robert W., min. of Clackmannan; educated at Univ. of Glasgow; M.A. (14th July 1670); passed trials before Presb. of Stirling and had a testimonial for licence 18th Sept. 1673; min. in 1684; deprived by the Committee of Estates 11th May 1689, for neither reading the Proclamation of the Estates, nor praying for William and Mary; died at Edinburgh, 6th March 1721. He marr. Katherine, daugh. of Robert Edmonstone, min. of the Second Charge, and had issue—Robert, M.D. (Rome), born 1687; James, writer, Edinburgh; John, wine merchant, Piccadilly, London; Mary, alive 1762.—[Dunblane Syn.; *Edin. JAMES FRASER of Brea, born at Brea, 1689 in the old parish of Kirkmichael [Resolis], Ross-shire, 29th July 1639, son of Sir James F. of Brea (who sat as Commissioner from the Presb. of Inverness in the Glasgow Assembly of 1638), and grandson of Simon, seventh Lord Lovat, by his second wife, Jean Stewart, daugh. of James, Lord Doune, son of James, Earl of Moray. His father died while F. was still a child, and some of the greatest troubles of his life came to him out of his ownership of Brea and the derangement of his father's pecuniary affairs. These, however, he was able to amend considerably in course of time. He graduated M.A. at Marischal College, Aberdeen, in 1658, and thereafter commenced the study of law. Coming under deep religious impressions he resolved to enter the ministry, and having qualified himself was ord. by the outed mins. of the Presb. of Moray in 1672. In 1674 he was ordered to be apprehended for preaching at conventicles, and letters of intercommuning were passed against him 6th Aug. 1675. He was summoned before the Privy Council 29th Jan. 1676, and next day he was sentenced to imprisonment on the Bass Rock, where he remained for two and a half years, during which period his chief studies were the Bible and Oriental languages. He was released on giving security for his good behaviour in July 1679, Sir Hugh Campbell of Cawdor becoming cautioner in the amount of £560. In Dec. 1681 he was again called before the Council and sent to Blackness Castle until he should pay a fine of 5000 merks, and give a promise to cease preaching or leave the country. Unknown to him, a brother-in-law petitioned for a remission of the fine. Set free, he went to London 16th June 1682, where he was apprehended for a third time and confined in Newgate 21st July 1683 for six months for declining what was styled the "Oxford oath." He returned to Scotland before 6th July 1687, when he was resident within the bounds of the Synod of Lothian and Tweeddale. Early in 1689 he became min. of this parish, preaching in a meeting-house till the Committee of Estates sanctioned his use of the church, 13th May. He was a member of Assembly 1690 and 1692, was sent to give supply in the North, and had a call from Inverness Sept. 1696, but was not settled; died at Edinburgh, 13th Sept. 1699. Fraser's reputation rests on his noble and saintly character, his devotion to the Presbyterian principles, his sacrifices for the same, and his Memoirs, a "book of the intricacies of his own heart and life," of which Dr Alexander Whyte said: "It is in his Memoirs that James Fraser of Brea will live, and he will live in that remarkable book as long as a scholarly religion, and an evangelical religion, and a spiritual religion, and a profoundly experimental religion, lives in his native land. It is a book that for depth and for grip has few, if any, equals among the foremost books of its kind in the whole world." He marr. (1) 31st July 1672, Isobel (died Oct. 1676), daugh. of Sir William Gray of Pittendrum, and widow of William Hamilton, merchant, Edinburgh, and had issue—Jean (marr. as his second wife, 1698, Hugh Rose of Kilravock), died s.p.; Beatrice (marr. SECOND CHARGE.

[In the seventeenth century at least the stipend of 600 merks was a "voluntary contribution of the heritors and other good people of the parish."—(Reg. Privy Council, 23rd Aug. 1670).]

HENRY SMITH, M.A.; settled here
1641 before 20th March 1641. During a vacancy in Dunfermline about 24th Nov. 1642, "the cure of baptisms and marriages was served by the ministers of the Presb., and speciallie by Mr Henry Smythe who was then come from the sturrs in Ireland, and dwelling heir." He was adm. to Beath 15th May 1644.

GEORGE BELFRAGE, M.A.; min. in 1642 1642; trans. to Carnock 2nd June 1647.

ROBERT EDMONSTONE, son of 1649 James E., min. of St Ninian's;
educated at Univ. of Glasgow;
M.A. (1642); pres. by the heritors, Town Council, and Erskine of Carnock; adm.
2nd July 1649; dep. by Archbishop Sharp 1st April 1668 "for obstinately refusing to keep the Synodical meetings." He died at East Grange 17th July 1683, aged about 62. He marr. Katherine, daugh. of John Chrystie, of Ashes, Perth, and with her had an annual rent of 300 merks from the lands of Blairhall, 14th Oct. 1662. She survived him, and had issue—Katherine (marr. Robert Wright, min. of First Charge), served heir 8th Sept. 1691;

1684 Univ. of Edinburgh; M.A. (24th Sept. 1681); pres. by Charles, Earl of Mar, and disposition by the Earl of Kin-cardine; adm. 1684; deprived by the Committee of Estates 11th May 1689, for not reading the Proclamation of the Estates, and not praying for King William and Queen Mary. In 1695 he seems to have remained in the parish and to have conducted irregular ministrations. He marr.
Antonia Lundie, and had issue—James,
born 1684; Margaret, born 1686; Elizabeth, born 1688.—[Dunblane Syn. and Dunblane

[Fraser's Life of Ralph Erskine.]

JAMES STODDART, M.A.; called 1748 6th Oct., and ord. 24th Nov. 1748.
Charles Cochrane, advocate, having pres. William Trotter, licentiate (afterwards min. of Selkirk), 1st May 1747, raised a process of multiplepoinding that the right to the stipend might be determined. The Court, 26th June 1751, preferred Cochrane as patron, and decerned against the heritors in payment to him, not only of the stipend due before the settlement of Stoddart, but also of the stipend due after it. The parishioners compensated Stoddart for his services by a voluntary contribution. He dem. 27th June 1753, and was adm. to Kirkintilloch 16th Aug. that year.

Ayrshire, where he quarrelled with "Black Jock" (John Russel, min. of Kilmarnock), and was thus immortalised by Burns in
"The Twa Herds":—

"O, Moodie, man, an' wordy Russel,
How could you raise so vile a bustle;
Ye'll see how 'New Licht' herds will whistle,
An' think it fine!
The L——'s cause ne'er gat sic a twistle
Sin' I ha'e min'."

Marr. 19th Feb. 1924, Nora, eldest daugh. of Archibald Powrie, Earlie Bank, Perth.

DALGETY.

[The old church of Dalgety, now ruined, was dedicated to St Bride. It belonged to the Abbey of Inchcolm and is included in the Bull of Pope Alexander III. to Walter, Prior of Inchcolm. A new church for the Parish of Dalgety was built in 1830. The Pre-Reformation church, stripped of its roof, stands on the shore of Donibristle Bay. The mediæval bell with the inscription, "O Mater Dei Memento Mei," still hangs in the belfry of the ruin. At Fordel, within the bounds, there is a chapel dedicated, it is said, to St Ferreolus, the Martyr of Vienne. It was rebuilt in 1650 by Sir John Henderson of Fordel. It has all along been a private chapel, and is used for mortuary purposes.]

WILLIAM PATON, M.A.; trans. from Orwell and adm. in 1598. In 1599 1598 Beath was also under his care; he was pres. to the vicarage of Dalgety and Beath by James VI. 4th April 1603, and to the vicarage of Dalgety, Beath, and Aberdour before 7th May 1611. In the Assembly 21st March 1606 he was ordered to serve the cure both of Aberdour and Dalgety; trans. to Aberdour before 1614.

ANDREW DONALDSON, born Perth 1644 about 1618; educated at Univ. of St Andrews; M.A. (5th June 1638); licen. by Presb. of Perth on or about 12th Jan. 1641; adm. min. here 28th Aug. 1644; pres. by Charles I. 11th Feb. 1645. From 3rd Aug. 1645 to 7th Jan. 1646 he was in England, having been app. by the Committee of the Provincial Assembly to accompany Lord Dunfermline's Regiment. In taking leave of his congregation he exhorted them "to seik the Lord in his absence, and to learne more and more to be gracious, by a cairful walking under the meanes, promising them, in name of the Presbytrie, that every Lord's day they suld be supplied, during his absence in England, which the Presbytrie had bound themselves to do. And the Sessione being met, John Henderson, ruling elder, was appointed to wait weiklie on the Presbytrie, that the congregatiōne be not frustrat. And the minister chairged the elders to be diligent and cairful in everything during his absence as they will be answerable to Christ their Master, and so he takes leave of the Sessione, and calls upon God." No preaching, however, took place all the five months D. was away, because "immediately after his remove the enemie came to the bounds, and for a month after that lamentable fight at Kilsyth, ministers durst not hazard almost to keep a presbytrie, or come abroad, and it pleased the Lord to visit this congregation with pestilence, so that the Presbytrie could not safelie come heir to preach." He was a member of Commission of Assembly in 1648; app. Chaplain in the Army 11th May 1649; joined the Protesters in 1651 and for a time was protected by Charles, Earl of Dunfermline; dep. by the Bishop of Dunkeld 4th Oct. 1664 for his opposition to Episcopacy. A party of soldiers was sent to eject him after the congregation had assembled for worship, but he was allowed to proceed with the service and "all outbreak, or tumult was prevented." Soon afterwards the Earl of Dunfermline having heard in London of D.'s deposition obtained a royal warrant authorising him to resume his ministry, but to this Archbishop Sharp stoutly objected. Although decret was passed against him and others 16th July 1671, D. continued to preach at his own house and at conventicles till letters of intercommuning were issued, 3rd Aug. 1676, when he removed to Inverkeithing. There he preached to his family and others on Sunday evenings, but was seized while in his bed and taken to the prison at Linlithgow, where he remained till 26th Aug. 1679 when a bond of security was given in his behalf by the heritors and parishioners of his old parish, to which he was granted an indulgence by the Privy Council 18th Dec. following. He returned at the Toleration and was restored by Act of Parliament 25th April 1690; died (having suffered from paralysis for some years) after 2nd Nov. 1693. He marr. (1) 7th June 1648 Helen, daugh. of James Hamilton of Meikle Parklie, and Isabella, daugh. of William Mauld, merchant burgess, Edinburgh, and had issue—Alexander, born 1649; Elizabeth, born 1652: (2) Beatrix Chalmers, who died at Inverkeithing 10th Oct. 1743, and had issue—Beatrice (marr. WILLIAM HENDERSON, born 1690; 1717 pres. by Charles, Earl of Moray, in June, and by Robert, Earl of Morton, in July, called by Presb. jure devoluto 5th Sept. 1717 [after the failure of presentations by Major Henry Balfour 12th Oct. 1714 in favour of Charles Campbell, min. of Newbattle, and 2nd April 1715 in favour of John Hay, M.A., afterwards min. of Peebles]; ord. 23rd Sept. 1717 (Ralph Erskine presiding); died 27th Oct. 1737. He is stated to have been the "man that most of all did advise James Hog to publish the Marrow of Modern Divinity, with his preface," and to have purchased copies of Alexander Hamilton's "Catechism" to circulate in his congregation, but afterwards to have become a great enemy to both. He marr. Margaret Campbell, probably identical with Margaret, daugh. of his immediate predecessor in the charge. She died 8th Feb. 1768, and had issue—Archibald, student of Philosophy, born 1720, died at Edinburgh 27th Dec. 1734; Charles, born 1722; John, born 1726; William.—[Fraser's Life of Ralph Erskine; Tombst.; *Edin. JAMES BATHGATE, born Inverkeithing, Sept. 1709, son of James 1738 B., min. of Orwell; licen. by the Presb. of Dunfermline 30th April 1735; pres. by James, Lord Doune, in Feb., and ord. 5th July 1738; called to Second Charge, Stirling, 7th Dec. following, but the Presb. refused translation. The motion was, however, carried against his wishes, by a majority in the Commission of Assembly March 1739, and the 25th April was fixed for his admission. Rather than submit to be settled in a place so divided in opinion, he offered a demission of his charge, and petitioned the General Assembly to treat him with tenderness. The Assembly, 22nd May, agreed that the finding of the Commission could not be reversed, but advised an arrangement of the matter between then and August, when if B. "continue his aversion, and the parish of Stirling still insist on their choice, both charges should be declared vacant." He was again called de novo, pres. by James, Lord Doune, Nov. following, and adm. 13th Feb. 1740. Having been summoned to the Assembly to answer for his disobedience, and a Committee appointed to confer with him, he again compeared, when the Moderator (George Logan) 19th May 1740, "did signify their dissatisfaction with his conduct." He died 23rd Dec. 1776. He marr. 12th Nov. 1741, Eupham Anderson, Aberdour, who died 8th July 1755, and had issue—Agnes, born 13th Jan. 1743, died 1st March 1746; Margaret, born 1744 and died that year; Janet, born 28th Aug. 1745, died 8th June 1747; Helen, born 25th Sept. 1746, died 16th July 1750; James, born 11th Feb. 1748.—[Ind. to Services; *Stirling Presb. DUNFERMLINE.

[The Parish of the Holy Trinity.—The ancient church of this parish formed the west portion of the whole Abbey Church, the east part obviously being reserved for the monks; but there is no reference to the parish church of Dunfermline as Parish Church before 1300-1301. From about 1306 (and in all likelihood earlier still) the whole Abbey Church was described as the Church of the Holy Trinity and St Margaret. Within the bounds were the following chapels:—St Ninian's, between the High Street and West Queen Anne Street; St Katherine the Virgin's, a little to the north-west of the Abbey, beyond the street now known as St Katharine's Wynd; St Mary's, on the south side of the Nethertown, at the east corner of Grange Road; St John the Baptist's, at Garvoch, a mile east of Dunfermline. There were also St Leonard's Chapel and Hospital, at the south end of the town, at the site of the older St Leonard's School, with St Leonard's Well a little to the south-east. Near the Abbey were enclosures known as St Laurence's Croft, St Laurence's Yard, and St Laurence's Orchard, pertaining to the altar of St Laurence in the conventual church, and in the vicinity also was St Margaret's Well. Probably about 1072-74 Queen Margaret and Malcolm III. built a church, dedicated to the Holy Trinity, and in all likelihood on the site of an earlier foundation. The foundations of this church were laid bare under the floor of the existing nave, by excavations carried out by the late Dr P. MacGregor Chalmers in 1916, and show it to have been a small building of Anglo-Saxon type, with western tower, nave, chancel, and eastern apse, the total length being 86 feet. In or soon after 1124 David I. erected the Benedictine Priory of Dunfermline (almost beyond doubt founded by Malcolm III.) into an Abbey. At the same time he built a new church on a much larger scale, the breadth of the nave between pillars being the same as the width of the old aisleless choir, there also being a new crossing and choir to the east of the old church. This church, the nave of which still exists, though somewhat mutilated at the east end, was dedicated in 1150; and in the following century, between 1216 and 1226, the eastern portion of the church was extended and to some extent remodelled, there being also added a chapel which subsequently contained the shrine of St Margaret. This noble monastery had its full share in the havoc and desolation of the long English wars. Edward I. of England occupied the building at various times. He came first in 1291, and returned in 1296 and 1303. A most unwelcome guest he must have been. His last stay covered most of the winter, and lasted well on into 1304. At the end, he burned the Abbey, and then went his way. The task of rebuilding was quickly taken up, and King Robert aided it zealously. But in 1385 the English came again under Richard II., and again the great monastery, but half restored, was given to the flames. The work of reparation was soon resumed, and was carried on steadily from generation to generation. Thus there grew up again a stately pile 280 feet long, with a central tower 150 feet high, and finished with two western towers. The monastic buildings also were very lordly and extensive.

From far and near came hosts of pilgrims to visit St Margaret's Shrine in the Lady Chapel of the Abbey. In the great church there were many altars, including dedications to St Laurence, St Katherine, St Ninian, St Cuthbert, St Eloi, and St Nicholas. From early times Dunfermline was a favourite residence of our Kings. Malcolm Canmore loved it, as did his sons, and most of their successors for many generations. Their royal castle here did not survive the English wars, but in its place came the larger and statelier palace. This successive sovereigns often altered and added to. Its surviving ruins are mainly the work of James VI., who was fond of the place. His second son, Charles I., was born at the Palace of Dunfermline.

Beneath the floor of the Abbey choir lies royal and noble dust. Here, in 1093, St Margaret the Queen was buried. Ere long the body of her husband, Malcolm III., was brought from Tynemouth and laid by her side. Kings Edgar, Alexander I., David I., Malcolm IV., Alexander III., and Robert I., names written large in our history, lie here. In Dunfermline Abbey, too, was buried, in 1401, Queen Annabella, wife of Robert III. In 1593 the Abbey church was repaired and fitted up to be the parish church of Dunfermline. During a winter gale, in 1672, a considerable part of the east end of the building was blown down. In 1716 the great central tower fell, causing much damage. In 1807 the south-western tower was shattered by lightning. That tower was rebuilt in its modern form in 1810. In 1819 the greater part of the choir, then much ruined, was rebuilt, with its square modern tower. A Second Charge for the parish was founded in 1598. When Charles I. came to Scotland for his coronation, he declared his purpose of visiting his birth-place at Dunfermline, but he did not come. Charles II., however, came to the palace, and from it issued the well-known "Declaration of Dunfermline," setting forth his allegiance to the Covenant. There are mission chapels in this parish at Townhill and Steelend.]

DAVID FERGUSSON [or FERGU-
1560 SON], said to have been a native of Dundee, though this is not certain. The date of his birth is also conjectural. Spottiswood believed it to be about 1533, while Wodrow suggests ten, or even twenty years earlier, and David Laing thought it could not have been later than 1525. F. was a glover to trade, and though he never attended a university he had a good knowledge of classical languages and had given much study to divinity. Nominated to this charge 19th July 1560, he had Rosyth under his care in 1567, and in 1574 Carnock and Beath, Rosyth being excluded. He was a member of thirty-nine General Assemblies—from 25th June 1563 to 10th May 1597, and in two of these, 6th March 1572 and 24th Oct. 1578, he was Moderator.

He had a place on all the important committees of the Church, and assisted the Moderator in arranging the business of the Assemblies—a position analogous to a modern Convener of the Business Committee. He was one of the mins. who attended the Regent Earl of Morton at his execution, 2nd June 1581. In 1576, and again in 1582, he was app. Visitor or Commissioner for various districts in establishing kirks and settling mins. He was frequently selected as intermediary when the Assembly wished to communicate matters of importance to the King, and he did not hesitate to admonish King James "to beware of innovations in Court, to try reports before credit was given to them, and to put him in remembrance of Holt, the English Jesuit." "He jocularly said that Fergus was the first King of Scotland, and that he was Fergus - son; but, recognising that King James had the possession, and was 'an honest man,' he would give him his right." By his tact and ready wit he was able to calm the more turbulent spirits, and upon one occasion he so effected a conciliation that when the mins. departed the King "laid his hands [shook hands] upon every one of them." At a meeting of Synod at Cupar, Feb. 1597-8, F. (then the oldest min. in Scotland) strongly opposed a proposal for giving mins. a vote in parliament, comparing it to a "busking up of the brave horse for the overthrow of Troy." He died FATHER OF THE CHURCH 23rd Aug. 1598. He is described as "a good preacher, wise, and of jocund and pleasant disposition." He had a remarkable knowledge of the Scottish vernacular, and many of his sayings lingered long in the speech of the people. A portrait of him painted on timber in a small oval, and presented by John Row to the Univ. Library, Edinburgh, cannot now be traced. He marr. Isobel Durham, and had issue—Margaret, bapt. 31st May 1562 (marr. David Spens, min. of Kirkcaldy); William, physician, Dundee, bapt. 10th Sept. 1564, died 25th March 1627; Patrick, bapt. 23rd June 1566; Robert, bapt. 3rd Oct. 1568; Janet, bapt. 24th Sept. 1570 (marr. April 1598, David Ramsay); David, bapt. 21st Jan. 1572-3; John, bapt. 19th May 1574; Grisel, bapt. 15th Feb. 1575-6 (marr. John Row, min. of Carnock); Isobel, bapt. 24th Feb. 1579-80. [The vol. entitled Epithalamium Mysticum Solomonis Regis (Edinburgh, 1677) has been wrongly ascribed to D. F. It is the work of another D. F. of Kirkcaldy, who lived a century later.] He left a Diary containing a record of the chief ecclesiastical events of his time, which is believed to be the basis of his son-in-law John Row's History.—

JOHN FAIRFOUL, trans. from 1598 Aberdour, and adm. in 1598. He was proposed as a royal chaplain by the General Assembly 14th May 1601, but was not accepted; app. master of the Grammar School of Culross by a gift from His Majesty 2nd Feb. 1603. He was a member of the Assembly May and Nov. 1602, and was nominated by that of 1606 as constant Moderator of the Presb., the members being charged by the Privy Council to receive him as such 25th Jan. following, within twenty-four hours after notice, under pain of rebellion. In 1609 he was called before the Privy Council, at the instance of the Chancellor, the Earl of Dunfermline, and on the information of Andrew Forrester, his colleague, charged with praying for the mins. banished in 1606, for holding the Assembly at Aberdeen the preceding year. Being found guilty, he was ordered to repair to Dundee, within six days, there to continue during the royal pleasure. On 8th March 1610 his place of confinement was changed to West Anstruther. At the same time he was forbidden to attend ecclesiastical meetings without the King's leave, but received liberty, "enduring the tyme of his stay in said parroche, to teache and preache in the kirke thereof"; he became min. there 19th Aug. 1610.

ANDREW FORRESTER, trans. and 1610 adm. from Second Charge about 1610. On 21st April 1612 a complaint was lodged with the Synod that he had allowed a crucifix to be painted on the chancellor's desk in the church, but the process was stopped by the King. Having appropriated money from the poor box and fearing apprehension, he fled from his charge in 1616 on a Sunday after having announced his text from the pulpit. He was afterwards min. at Collace.

JOHN MORAY, fourth son of Robert 1620 M. of Abercairny, Foulis-Wester;
 educated at Univ. of Edinburgh;
 M.A. (10th Aug. 1595); pres. to Borthwick 15th Dec. and 6th Jan. 1598-9;
 trans. to Second Charge, South Leith, 1603; trans. to Second Charge here in 1614; trans. and adm. about 1620. He was summoned before the Court of High Commission 12th Dec. 1621; deprived 3rd Jan. 1622, for not conforming to the Five Articles of Perth, and he was ordered to confine himself within two miles of Foulis-Wester. Failing to comply, he was charged on pain of outlawry, 6th Feb. following, to appear before the Council within fifteen days. A further summons was sent on 24th June 1624, but having fallen from his horse shortly before, he could not attend and his confinement was confirmed "more straitly than at first." During this confinement, he resided at Gorthie, which belonged to an elder brother, on whose death, in 1629, he removed a second time to Prestonpans, where he died Jan. 1632, aged about 57. He marr. (1) Margaret Leslie (died 22nd June 1620), eldest daugh. of James, Master of Rothes, and had issue—David, born Dec. 1604, and another child, both of whom died while

ROBERT KAY, trans. from Second 1645 Charge, Dunbarton; adm. 15th, and pres. by Charles II. 28th Jan. 1645;
 there was no sermon nor session for two Sabbaths, 1st Oct. 1648, because of the malignants of Lanrick and Montrose, whose regiments being quartered in the bounds, "plunderit and abusit mony parts." The Kirk-Session, 16th April 1654, elected commissioners to supplicate the Commander-in-chief of the English for relieving Kay out of the prison in Inchgarvie to his own house, which was granted before the 25th
 "until farder order," and he "desyrit that the Session would tak course for supplicating that he may have liberty to preach again, quhilk is thocht fit to be advysit by the Presbytery." He dem. in 1665, and was
 adm. to Stow in 1666.

ALEXANDER DUNBAR, son of the 1676 sheriff of Moray; educated at King's College, Aberdeen; M.A.
 (13th July 1658); licen. by Presb. of

Inverness; ord. to Birnie 22nd June 1659; trans. to Essil 8th July 1667; trans. southwards that year; adm. to this charge 19th Oct. 1676; died 22nd March 1678, aged about 40. — [Ferne's and Chalmers's Hist. of Dunf.]

ROBERT NORIE, M.A.; adm. 18th Sept. 1678; pres. by Charles II. 3rd Sept. 1679. He complained to the Privy Council 4th May 1681 against certain Justices of the Peace for issuing a warrant against him to make him account for the fines in the Kirk-Session; trans. to Dundee 11th June 1686.

JOHN WARDLAW, M.A., formerly min. of Kemback; on 18th Dec. 1679, in answer to a petition by Robert Ged of Baldrige and others, for themselves and in the name of other parishioners of Dunfermline, he was allowed by the Privy Council to preach in terms of the Act of Indulgence; he soon contravened the "Indulgence," and on 2nd June 1681 was put to the horn for failure to appear on a charge of keeping conventicles and exercising the other functions of the ministry. W. had no access to the Abbey church, and his services must have been held in a meeting-house.

SIMON COUPER, educated at Univ. of Edinburgh; M.A. (1667); min. of Kirkcudbright in 1678; trans. to Second Charge 17th May 1681; pres. by the heritors and magistrates and by James VII. 5th Nov. 1686; trans. and inst. after 12th Dec. of that year; he was accused before the Privy Council, 4th Sept. 1689, of not reading the Proclamation of the Estates, not praying for their Majesties William and Mary, and for saying, when there came the news of the defeat at Killiecrankie, "that no less could come of them for rebelling against their lawful sovereign," but he was acquitted, as this was not proven. He was dep. by the united Presb. of Dunfermline and Kirkcaldy, 28th Dec. 1693, for contumacy and contempt of its authority, which sentence was affirmed by the Synod 6th May 1694. He was ordered by the Privy Council, 4th June 1694, to leave the church. He died in Edinburgh, 20th Sept. 1710, aged about 64. He marr. 26th Feb. 1678, Elizabeth Meldrum, and had issue—Simon, born July 1682. THOMAS BUCHANAN, M.A.; educated at Univ. of Glasgow; M.A. 1710 (29th April 1684); licen. by Presb. of Dunbarton 10th March 1691; ord. to Tulliallan 29th March 1692; called 6th Sept., trans. and adm. 30th Nov. 1710; seized with palsy at Edinburgh in 1714, returned from General Assembly there, and resumed duties, but died 10th April 1715, aged about 51. He marr. 12th April 1695, Grisell, daugh. of Alexander Glass of Sauchie, and had issue—George, min. of Drymen; Grisell, died in the Trinity Hospital at Edinburgh, 8th May 1722; John; Robert; Margaret (marr., pro. 25th Nov. 1739, Robert Gordon, baker, Edinburgh).—[Tulliallan and Kirkliston Sess.; Edin. Bur.]

RALPH ERSKINE, born at Monilaws, near Cornhill, Northumberland, 15th 1716 March 1685, fifth son of Henry E., ejected min. at Cornhill, afterwards min. of Chirnside, by his second wife, Margaret Halcro, and brother of Ebenezer E., min. of Stirling; matriculated at Univ. of Edinburgh, Nov. 1699, and is said to have graduated M.A. in 1704 (though his name is not in the list of graduates published by the Bannatyne Club); from 1705 to 1711 he was tutor to the children of the "Black Colonel," John Erskine of Culross, one of his pupils becoming the well-known author of Institutes of the Law of Scotland. He completed his theological curriculum during this period of tutorship and was licen. by the Presb. of Dunfermline 8th June 1709. On 1st May 1711, he was called to the Second Charge here, and on 14th June following to the parish of Tulliallan. He preferred Dunfermline, and was ord. 7th Aug. 1711; pres. by the Presb. jure devoluto, trans. and adm. to First Charge 1st May 1716. In the controversy with the General Assembly which led to the Secession of 1733, he adhered to all the protests on behalf of the Four Brethren, being one of the "Twelve Apostles" or Representers of 1721, eventually he joined the Associate Presb. 16th Feb. 1737, and was dep. 15th May 1740. He took an active part in the visit of George Whitefield to Scotland in 1741, but repudiated some of the features of the Revival at Cambuslang. On the question of the Burgess Oath he sided with his brother Ebenezer in thinking it a matter for the individual conscience, and on the separation of the party opposed to the Oath, he issued an admonition to the separatists. He was a skilled musician, a lover of the violin, and a religious poet whose Sonnets and Hymns had an extensive circulation. He preached his last sermon on 29th Oct., and died of a nervous fever 6th Nov. 1752. A statue of E., by Handyside Ritchie, was erected in front of Queen Anne Street Church, Dunfermline, 27th June 1849. He marr. (1) 10th July 1714, Margaret (died 22nd Nov. 1730, aged 32), daugh. of John Dewar of Lassodie, and had issue—Elizabeth, born 1715; Jean, born 1716; Margaret, born 1718 (marr. 1745, John Newlands, bookseller, Glasgow), died 1751; Helen, born 1719; Henry, min. of the Secession Congregation, Falkirk, born 1720, died 29th July 1754; John, min. of the Associate Congregation, Leslie, born 1722, died 8th May 1751; Rachel, born 1724; Ebenezer, born 1726, died 1747; Christian, died in infancy; James, min. of the Secession Congregation, Stirling (in succession to his uncle), born 1730, died 9th March 1761; (2) 24th Feb. 1732, Margaret, daugh. of Daniel Simson, W.S., Edinburgh, and had issue—Ralph, born Dec. 1732, died young; Daniel, born 1734, died 1735; Robert, F.R.S., Geographer and Surveyor-General to the American Army, author of A Dissertation on Rivers and Tides (London, 1770), born 7th Sept. 1735, died in America, 2nd Oct. 1780; Ralph, born Jan. and died April 1738. THE NORTH PARISH (Q.S.).

[The North Church (Golfdrum), founded early in 1840, was opened for public worship on second Sunday of Nov. 1840, with sittings for 800. The cost of the building was £1673, of which £1002 was raised by subscription, and £41 received from the General Assembly's Extension Fund. This parish was erected quoad sacra 24th Jan.
1855.]

CHARLES MARSHALL, born Paisley, 1841 about 1796, eldest son of Charles M., manufacturer, and Mary Baird; educated at Univs. of Glasgow and Edinburgh; was Governor of John Watson's Institution, Edinburgh, 1827-40; ord. 16th July 1841. Joined the Free Church in 1843; was min. of Free North Church, Dunfermline, 1843-82 [the Free Church obtained possession of the building from 1843 to 1849, when it was vacated upon decision obtained in the House of Lords]; died June 1882. He marr. 1878, Liliass, daugh. of Thomas Bisset and Margaret Scott. CHARLES ROGERS, born 18th April 1825 (his mother died at his birth), only child of James R., min. of Dunino; educated at Dunino Parish School and Univ. of St Andrews; licen. by Presb. of St Andrews June 1846; assistant to Hew Scott, D.D., at West Anstruther, also at Kinglassie, and Abbotshall; ord. 13th July 1849; res. 10th July 1850; became assistant at Ballingry and Carnoustie; LL.D. (Columbia College, New York, Dec. 1853); opened a preaching-station at Bridge of Allan, and from Jan. 1855 to 11th Aug. 1863 was chaplain to the garrison at Stirling Castle. Elected a member of Stirling Town Council Nov. 1861; took a prominent part in local affairs, instituted a Churchyard Improvement Association, and was prime mover in the erection of the national Wallace Monument on the Abbey Craig 24th June 1861. In 1855 he opened at Stirling a Scottish Literary Institute, and in 1862 a British Christian Institute for the dissemination of religious tracts, chiefly to soldiers and sailors, but both schemes failed. In 1863 he went to Lewisham, Kent, where he devoted himself to literary work, originated a short-lived Naval and Military Tract Society, and founded the London Book and Tract Depository, which lasted until 1874. On 2nd Nov. 1868 he inaugurated the Grampian Club for the issue of works illustrative of Scottish literature and antiquities, and was secretary and editor until his death. He claimed to be founder of the Royal Historical Society begun in 1868, of which he continued to be secretary and historiographer until 1880. In 1873 he was presented by his friends with a residence at Forrest Hill, London, which he named Grampian Lodge; D.D. (St Andrews, 1881); returned to Edinburgh and died at his house, 6 Barnton Terrace, Craighleith, 18th Sept. 1890. He was a man of indefatigable habits of work, scholarly and patriotic, with a temperament which did not brook opposition, and inclined too often to imagine himself the victim of animosity and misrepresentation. His labours in connection with the Wallace Monument and in the sphere of Scottish literature, entitle him to the gratitude of Scottish people. He was a member of numerous British, Continental, and American learned Societies. He marr. 14th Dec. 1854, Jane, eldest daugh. of John Bain, St Andrews. Publications—Memoir and Poems of Sir Robert Aytoun (Edinburgh, 1844; London, 1871); Historical Notices of St Anthony's Monastery, Leith (1849); History of St Andrews (Edinburgh, 1849); A Week at Bridge of Allan (Edinburgh, 1851, various editions); The Beauties of Upper Strathearn (Edinburgh, 1854); The Modern Scottish Minstrel, 6 vols. ST LEONARD'S (Q.S.).

[Under the designation of the Brucefield Mission, work was inaugurated and carried on in a temporary church in the Brucefield district of Dunfermline. The mission was served by (1) 1895-9, David Bruce Millar, M.A., afterwards min. of St James's Parish, Kirkcaldy: (2) 1899-1903, Joseph Campbell, M.A., afterwards min. of Bargrennan. William M'Laren, Dunfermline, bequeathed a sum of money for the erection of a church and hall at Brucefield, and on 17th Sept. 1904 the church, built according to plans by Peter MacGregor Chalmers, LL.D., Glasgow, was opened for worship. A Chapel-of-Ease constitution was obtained in the same year. St Leonard's Parish was erected on 24th Jan. 1908. At what is now the entrance to the Brucefield property stood the chapel and hospital of St Leonard, erected probably in the thirteenth century.]

CANMORE STREET CHAPEL.

[Retained by the Free Church in 1843.]

1839 WILLIAM DALZIEL, ord. min. of the Original Secession Church, Dunfermline, 11th Oct. 1815; joined the Church of Scotland with his congregation in 1839; trans. to Thurso 27th Sept. 1843.

INVERKEITHING AND ROSYTH.

[In 1611 the Commissioners for the modification of stipends and the erection of churches united the churches, a policy designed to remain in force till "ane competent stipend suld be provydit" for a minister at Rosyth. In 1618 the Commissioners for the Plantation of Kirks decreed the union of the two parishes. The church of Rosyth, traditionally said to have been dedicated to St John, and granted to the monastery of Inchcolm by Richard, Bishop of Dunkeld in 1170-78, ceased to be used as a place of worship soon after 1630, and is now a ruin. Inverkeithing church, dedicated to St Peter, was granted to Dunfermline Abbey by Waldeve, son of Gospatrick, 1160-82. Besides the High Altar it possessed altars of St Michael, the Holy Blood, St John the Baptist, St Katharine, the Holy Rood, St Laurence, St Ninian, and St Mary. In 1825 the church of Inverkeithing was burned, but the mediæval tower and portions of the walls remain. A Friary of the Greyfriars was founded at Inverkeithing, 1329-84. The chapel of Inverkeithing was conveyed to Dunfermline Abbey by Malcolm IV. in 1159. At North Queensferry there is the ruin of a chapel, dedicated to St James. It was granted to Dunfermline Abbey by Robert I., 1320-23.

JOHN ANGUS, "professit monk of Dunfermline," pres. to the vicarage of Inverkeithing by the Commendator of Dunfermline 20th Aug. 1562; coll. and inst. by the Bishop of St Andrews 23rd June 1563; Royal confirmation being granted 20th May 1565; he was parson of Crieff on 4th Nov. 1595, when he is mentioned along with his brother, William, parson of Kirkinner.—[Stephen's Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 272; Char. of Dunf., ii., 33a, MS.]

JOHN HUTCHISON, min. of Torryburn and Crombie, in charge in 1569.—[Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 272.]

PETER BLACKWOOD, min. at Saline; had the oversight of Inverkeithing from 1st Aug. 1569, Aberdour, Dalgety, and Auchtertool being also in the charge; his remuneration being £160 Scots in addition to the parsonage of the five parishes. At this time and apparently up to 1574 Rosyth was under the care of David Fergusson, min. of Dunfermline, with JOHN BURNE and JOHN CHRISTISON as readers.—[Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 272.]

JOHN BURNE, reader at Dunfermline and Rosyth; pres. to Inverkeithing by the King and coll. by the Presb. of Dunfermline in 1570; for a time had charge of Dalgety, and in 1574 of Rosyth and Torrie with ADAM ANGILL and GEORGE DURIE, both formerly chaplains at altars in Inverkeithing Church, readers at Inverkeithing and Rosyth respectively; he was a member of Assembly in 1581; at his instance in 1585 the Lords of Exchequer issued a decree for payment of his stipend against Agnes Leslie, Lady Lochleven, and on 12th Dec. 1586 the Archbishop of St Andrews was put to the horn for not paying the same; died 1611. He marr. Bessie Turis, and had issue—Isobel, bapt. 30th June 1574; Rachel, born 2nd July 1576.—[St. And. Syn.; Dunf. Sess. Reg.; Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 273; Acts and Dec., cxxxiii., 2.]

ROBERT ROCHE, M.A. (St Andrews 1597); clerk to the Presb. there 22nd March 1598-1606, and was then employed with the Rector; nominated Oct.

1610 by the Archbishop and several brethren of the Synod as assistant to John Burne, then in feeble health, and after the death of the last named, the congregation, 2nd April 1611, craved the Synod that Roche be ord. to the charge, but no provision being made for him, the Synod next day enjoined such to be made within forty days, and this being done, he was ord. 30th July 1611 by the Archbishop of St Andrews, and the members of the Presb. of Dunfermline. At the same time he took charge of the work at Rosyth; soon after he was recommended by the Church Commissioners to be min. at Rosyth, underwent trials before the Bishop of Dunkeld, was approved and received presentation to Rosyth from James VI. 17th Dec. 1611. He was app. Moderator of the Presb. by the Synod 14th April 1613, signed the Protestation for the Liberties of the Kirk 27th June 1617, and on 25th April 1620 was arraigned by the Synod for non-compliance with the Five Articles of Perth, and threatened with removal from the ministry if he persisted in his unbending attitude; raised an action for possession of the glebe at Inverkeithing designed in 1630, which action the Lords, 22nd Jan. 1631, decided in his favour; but they refused, 11th Feb. that year, to give him as manse a house built on the glebe. He died 23rd June 1640, aged about 63. He marr. Isobel, daugh. of Matthew Greig, burgess of Inverkeithing, and had issue—"ane only bairn," John.—[St And. Syn.; Dunf. Sess., and Test. Reg. (St And.); Durie's Dec.; Melville's Autob.; Calderwood's Hist., vii., 256; Bannatyne Miscell., iii.; Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 274.]

WALTER BRUCE, fourth son of Sir 1641 John Bruce of Kincavil, and Jean Drummond; educated at St Andrews Univ.; M.A. (1628); on a crave by the parishioners of Inverkeithing and Rosyth he was app. min. by the Synod; ord. before April 1641; pres. by Charles I. 14th May that year; in 1649 he was suspended, and prior to being reponed had to declare his repentance before the congregation for part owner of a ship and for indiscretions of language, including an assertion in a sermon "that the spirit of godlines in thir tymes was ane salt humour arysing fra the melt, trubling the stomach, and ascending to the head, whilk made a cracking of the braine"; later, 26th June 1650, he was deposed by the Presb. of Dunfermline for "gross neglects in the speciale duties of his ministrie"; he made appeal; in Dec. 1652 the Synod on remit from the General Assembly granted him "libertie to preache as he sall be called," and, 26th April 1653, decreed that the min. of Kinghorn preach at Inverkeithing 26th June following and intimate "the sentence for taking off the censure," Bruce at the time being rebuked and admonished by the Moderator; in 1662 he conformed to Episcopacy and 14th Oct. that year was appointed "Constant Moderator" of the Presb.; died between 20th Feb. and 5th March 1673. He marr. (cont. 29th April and 3rd May 1664) Jean, daugh. of Alexander Menzies of Rotmell: she marr. (2) John Liddell, min. of Scone, and died before 6th May 1691.—[Durie's Dec.; Melville's Autob.; Bannatyne Miscell., iii.; Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 274.]

ROBERT SCOTT, M.A.; pres. by Charles 1678 II. 17th March 1673; trans. to Canon-gate, Edinburgh, before 28th Nov. 1676; D.D. (St Andrews 6th Nov. 1686). (Cf. Vol. I., 24, and Vol. III., 25-9.) He marr. (1) Isobel Cullen, and had issue—Charles, bapt. 15th April 1673; Marie, born July 1678; Anna, born May 1680 (marr. William Lyell of Dysart), died at Leith 21st April 1753, leaving a daugh., Barbara, wife of William Law, a min. in Leith: (2) (cont. 1st Nov. 1701) Barbara, daugh. of George Martin, min. at Dundee, and widow of Charles Carnegie, D.D., min. at Farnell and Dean of Brechin, fifth son of Sir Alexander Carnegie of Pitarrow, and had issue—William; died 18th March 1703, aged 11 months.

DAVID LAUDER, M.A. (St Andrews
1678 1662); tutor to the sons of Sir William Stewart of Invernytie; had a testimonial for ordination 16th July 1668; adm. to Aberdalgie 26th Aug. 1668; trans. and adm. between 25th Oct. and 20th Dec.

1676; died in Nov. 1681, aged about 40. He marr. Liliash Grahame, who survived him; she was one of the four heirs of Robert Grahame of Cairnie, and marr. (2) Alexander Irvine, min. of this parish. —[St And. Syn.; Test. Reg. (St And.); Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 278.]

ALEXANDER IRVINE, M.A., probably 1682 identical with Alexander Irvine, son of Robert Irvine, who preached in Peterculter Church 11th Jan. 1680; entered upon the vacant pastorate 22nd Jan. 1682; was a strong supporter of Episcopacy and a bitter opponent of all who refused to attend upon his ministrations; deprived by the Committee of Estates 8th May 1689 for not reading their Proclamation of 11th April preceding, and not obeying the same by praying for William and Mary. On his departure he took with him two silver communion cups of date 1643, which were recovered on an action against him before the Sheriff of Fife by the Kirk-Session. He subsequently officiated in meeting-houses in the Calton, South Leith, and back of the Canongate, Edinburgh, and complaints were made of his irregular conduct in 1700, for which he was rebuked in 1701; he was then living in Weir's land at the Craig-well, Edinburgh; died before 1st April 1703. He marr. (1) 19th July 1682, Liliash Grahame (died Feb. 1685), widow of preceding min.; (2) 2nd June 1687, Helen (died 1707), daugh. of Captain James Bennet of Grange, burgess of Inverkeithing, and had issue—James, apprenticed mariner 3rd May 1704, with Captain John Stewart, South Queensferry.—[So. Leith Sess.; Edinburgh Reg. (Marr. and Bapt.), Acts of Parl., ix.; Kirkton's Hist., 193; Wodrow's Hist., iii., 390; Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 278-9.]

ROBERT HODGE, M.A. (Edinburgh, 1688 1666); called in Aug., and on 22nd Nov. 1688 “was ordained and admitted minister to those of the presbyterian persuasion in the parish of Inverkeithing according to the presbyteriall way,” on a supplication from the magistrates, heritors, and inhabitants; after Irvine's deprivation in 1689 and in response to a petition by the magistrates, Town Council, heritors, and inhabitants of the town and parish, the Committee of Estates, 10th May 1689, allowed him “to preach and exercise the other acts of the ministerial function at the Kirk of Inverkeithing,” and in accordance with this act he “entered to the church” on Sabbath 12th May 1689. He was a member of Assembly in 1690; died 11th April 1691, aged about 45. He marr. Margaret, daugh. of John M'Ghie, min. of Dirleton; she survived him and marr. (2) (cont. 24th Nov. 1696), Robert Stewart, shipmaster, Inverkeithing.—[Acts of Parl., ix.; Reg. Gen. Ass., 1690; Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 279.]

SAMUEL CHARTERS [or 1692 CHARTERIS], M.A. (Edinburgh, 3rd March, 1690); called 25th May, and ord. 25th Aug. 1692; “heritors, magistrates, and masters of families showing their free assent thereto with uplifted hands”; acquired the lands of Salvege, Inverkeithing, and died 28th June 1733, aged about 64. He marr. 14th Sept. 1694, Margaret, daugh. of Dr Knox, physician, Edinburgh, and great-great-grandniece of John Knox, the Reformer, and had issue—William of Salvege, town-clerk of Kirkcaldy, died 10th Dec. 1750; John; Alexander, bapt. 27th July 1699; Jean, born 1701 (marr. 1731, Captain Charles Greig, Inverkeithing, and had with other issue,—Admiral Sir Samuel Greig, “father” of the Russian Navy); Janet, bapt. 4th May 1703, died 1st Sept. 1705; Thomas, successor to his father; Margaret, born 17th March 1705 (marr. David Hunter, min. of Saline); Samuel, of Salvege, which he acquired from William, his brother, and Solicitor of His Majesty's Customs in Scotland.—[Edin. Reg. Bur.; Somerville's Life and Funeral Sermon on Charters; Fraser's Life of Ralph Erskine; MS. Geneal. of Dalgleish; Inverkeithing and Rosyth, 113-14, 280.]

THOMAS CHARTERS, bapt. 17th Sept.
 1788 1704, son of preceding; educated at Univ. of Edinburgh; licen. by Presb. 16th Sept. 1730, but previously, 18th Jan. 1727, while a student, had received permission from the Presb. of Dunfermline to assist his father in visiting and catechising; ord. (assistant and successor) 28th Oct. 1731, the patron, General George Preston of Valleyfield, agreeing to present him to the parish if he survived his father; this promise he fulfilled 6th Sept. 1733; died 13th Feb. 1744. He marr. 10th Feb. 1737, Christian, eldest daugh. and one of the heirs of James Wardlaw of Luscar, one of the mins. of Dunfermline, and had issue—Samuel, D.D., min. of Wilton, Hawick; Margaret (marr. 21st May 1766, Henry Hunter, D.D., min. of the Second Charge, South Leith); Jean, born 30th March 1738 (marr. East Lothian; licen. by Presb. of Dunbar 2nd Jan. 1734; ord. to Broughton 5th March 1735; pres. by Captain Philip Anstruther, 26th Aug. 1749. A month previously the Town Council (which had twice laid claim to the patronage without any warrant), and the Kirk-Session approached the Presb. craving "a hearing" of certain other persons. This led to lengthy and bitter disputes before the Church Courts, but finally the General Assembly ordered the Presb. to proceed to induction on 18th June 1752. R. died in Edinburgh, 25th Dec. 1790.

Notwithstanding the opposition and obloquy which he encountered, he was an admirable parish min., a good preacher, and a scholar of repute. During his incumbency not a few of those who had seceded returned to his ministry. He marr. 10th Sept. 1737, Janet (died 5th Oct. 1789), daugh. of George Anderson of Windygoul, North Berwick, and had issue—John, born 24th July 1738, died 19th June 1753; George, born 24th March 1740, died 28th Jan. 1760; Richard, merchant, Edinburgh, born 14th Jan. 1742; David, born 5th Sept. 1744, died 10th Feb. 1757. ROSYTH MISSION, INVERKEITHING AND ROSYTH.

[In April and May 1916 the Home Mission Committees of the Church of Scotland and the United Free Church, with consent of the respective General Assemblies, agreed to carry on work jointly for a time at Rosyth, each church in turn to supply a min. for six months. The work was inaugurated on 12th Nov. 1916 by Matthew Scott Dickson, M.A., min. of Old Monkland, who conducted services in the Douglas Block, Castle Road, Rosyth, and subsequently in the temporary school on the west side of the Garden City, and later in the Church of Scotland Temporary Naval Church, Castle Road, which was ready for use in February 1917. Mr Dickson's period of office terminated at the close of April 1917, and other Church of Scotland mins. who officiated under the joint scheme were (Nov. 1917 to April 1918), William Ogilvy Duncan, M.A., min. of Clarkston, and (Nov. 1918 to April 1919) John Muir, B.D., min. of Yester. The joint scheme involved also the feuing of a site for a church in the Garden City, on which a temporary church was built according to plans by Peter Macgregor Chalmers, LL.D., Glasgow, and opened on 27th June 1917. In 1919 a further agreement was made whereby the Church of Scotland took over the work at Rosyth, the church and site becoming the property of the Home Mission Committee. Thereafter the work was carried on for a time by (1) George Campbell, M.A. (September 1919 to May 1920), min. of St Ninian's Mission Church, Edinburgh, and (2) William Lindsay Gordon, B.D. (June to August 1920), who became min. of Yetholm. From August 1920 Rosyth has been a recognised mission station.]

TORRYBURN AND CROMBIE.

[Almost from the Reformation the churches of Torryburn and Crombie were associated, and in 1622 the parishes were united. The church of Crombie appears to have been in use up to June 1629, for a Session Minute of that date bears that "the Session, convened at the Kirk of Crombie, appointed ane stent for repairing the Kirk of Crombie, extending to £30, to be paid by the parishioners." Before 16th Feb. 1648 it had ceased to be used for worship, and gradually it became a ruin. Richard, "parson of the Church of Torry in the County of Fyfe," is mentioned in the Ragman Rolls in 1296.]

JAMES AIRD, born about 1625 [in the Autobiography of Sir Robert Sibbald, 1668 M.D., A. is said to be aged 68 in 1664, but this is manifestly an error for 38], son of John A., min. of Newbattle; educated at Univ. of Edinburgh; M.A. (30th July 1646); app. session-clerk of Newbattle 13th May 1647; ord. to Ingram, near Glanton, Northumberland, but was ejected by the Act of Uniformity 24th Aug. 1662. He returned to Scotland and resided for a time in Edinburgh. One of his friends and correspondents was Robert Leighton (afterwards Archbishop), who recommended him for several appointments. On 5th March 1661, Leighton wrote to his brother, Sir Elisha L., in favour of A., as "one acquainted with my free thoughts, and that hath himself a free unprejudiced soul, and loves truth and devotion wheresoever he finds it. He hath a cell and a provision amongst the hills in the borders of England, but is threatened with a removal upon the title of an old incumbent, who is at London or near it. If you be acquainted with Dr Cozens, Bishop of Durham, or can recommend him to him by anyone that is, if he himself desire it, or if in any other way you can assist him, I entreat it of you." On 22nd Sept. 1662, the heritors of Straiton were asked to favour A. for that parish but without success; pres. to this charge by Alexander, Earl of Kincardine, and adm. 15th July 1668. In 1670 he was one of the six "Bishop's Evangelists" app. to preach to the Presbyterians within the diocese of Glasgow, the Archbishops specially desiring A. to "bestow his pains in that circuit that lies eastward from Hamilton, or thereabouts, and particularly in the Kirk of Carluke; not doubting that the minister thereof, and others in the like case, will very gladly receive and earnestly intreat what help he can do towards the bringing of their people to frequent the public ordinances, and the removing of their prejudices and calming of their passions, that they may with one heart worship that one Lord whom we all profess to love and honour." He was dep. by the Privy Council 18th Oct. 1689, for neither reading the Proclamation of the Estates, nor praying for William and Mary, but for King James, "our natural Prince, that God would comfort him in the day of his distress, and send back that tyrant (King William) who had come to invade these lands, with a hook in his jaws." He died unmarr. June 1701. Wodrow describes him as "a man of strong affections for piety and virtue, and of a simple and chaste life, and, according to his power, charitable to the poor in an eminent degree." At his own expense the bridge near Torryburn church was built. Kirkton says that because A. imitated Leighton's "shrug and grimace" he was called "Leighton's Ape." This language no doubt merely reflects the bitterness of the times.—[Hutchinson's Northumberland; Wodrow's Anal., i., 135; Sibbald's Hist. of Fife, 291; Butler's Life and Letters of Robert Leighton, 254-64, 399 et seq., 481-4, 503-4; Kirkton's Hist., 294.]

PRESBYTERY OF KINROSS

[This Court was erected by the General Assembly on 30th May 1856. The parishes going to form it were taken from the Presbyteries of Perth, Auchterarder, Kirkcaldy, and Dunfermline.]

ARNGASK.

[The church of Arngask (Ard-na-gaisk, "the hill of bravery") was dedicated to St Columba. It belonged to the Abbey of Cambuskenneth. The parish was of old very small. After the Reformation it stood long vacant. In 1625 the parishes of Arngask and Strathmiglo were united, but their union was soon ended. In 1642 the lands of Easter and Wester Fordell, Paris, Deuglie, Blair, Plaines, Glendye, and Glendye Milne were taken from the parish of Forgandenny, and added to Arngask. In 1669 parts of the parishes of Orwell and Strathmiglo were likewise added to this parish. Arngask Church was built in 1806. In the churchyard are the remains of an older structure.]

ord. 27th Sept. 1725; adhered to the protest against the Commission's sentence loosing
the four Seceders from their charges 16th
Nov. 1733; was elected min. of the Scottish Church, Rotterdam, 21st Aug. 1736, but the call was set aside on 24th Nov. through false accounts having reached the Consistory that M. held Antinomian doctrines and opposed patronage; gave in his demission to the Presb. 16th, and his adherence to the Associate Presb. 18th Feb. 1737, and as their Moderator, read their declination at the bar of the Assembly 17th May 1739;
dep. 15th May 1740, along with Ebenezer Erskine and his followers. He zealously opposed the Burgess Oath introduced in some burghs, and as officiating Moderator of the Associate Synod called a meeting of the majority, who constituted themselves
the Synod (Antiburgher), and deposed those who differed from them. For disobeying the injunctions of this Antiburgher Synod he was suspended 21st Aug. 1755, deposed and excommunicated 21st April 1757, but continued his ministry to such of his congregation as adhered to him. In 1766 and 1767 petitions for his restoration were refused by the Antiburghers. He died 17th Feb. 1768. The following is his epitaph at Orwell:—

" Muse, passenger, as you this stone walk by
And gravely think that underneath it ly
Some relics of a much enlightened Seer
Triumphant, now, among the heavenly Quire;
Elijah-like, for zeal, on earth oppress,
Removed from strife he dwells serene in rest.
Twice twenty years he preached to numbers round
How glad were all who heard the joyful sound
Orwell, with tears your guide withdrawn deplore,
Mourn for your loss: this prophet warns no more;
A soul physician skilled with hearts to deal
Sores to rap up and bleeding wounds to heal.
Many there felt his doctrine drop as balm
And blessed the man God sent their minds to calm.
I end my plaint, Mair sings where praises flow,
Redeeming love his darling theme below."

BURNTISLAND.

[In old times this parish is often styled Kinghorn Wester or Little Kinghorn. It was at an early time disjoined from Kinghorn, always of old called Kingorn. The Parish Church was dedicated to St Serf. It belonged to the Abbey of Dunfermline. The ruins of the old church still stand at the Kirktown. It consisted of a nave and chancel about seventy feet long. In 1592 a new and much larger church was built in the town, on a heugh overlooking the sea. On 12th May 1601, when this modern church was still new, the General Assembly met in it. In that year there was a bad outbreak of plague in Edinburgh, and in various other populous places. Therefore the Assembly was called to meet at Burntisland, which had a clean bill of health. King James VI. himself attended that Burntisland Assembly, and took an active part in its work. It was then that His Majesty called the attention of the Church to the need of a new and authoritative version of the Scriptures in English. The Assembly heartily took up the idea and appointed a committee to further it. In 1603, however, King James succeeded to the English throne, and his scheme for the revision of the Bible was carried out in England, resulting in the Authorised Version of 1611. The Parish Church, in which the Assembly met, is a quaintly foreign-looking building. It is said to be the work of a Dutch architect. Fairs of St Serf, St Peter, and St Clement were held at Burntisland.]

WILLIAM WATSON, trans. from Old Kirk, Edinburgh, and adm. by a committee of Assembly with advice of King James VI. in 1601; was one of eight mins. summoned to London by the King 21st May 1606 to confer with him with a view to carrying measures opposed to the former ecclesiastical policy. After an absence in London for five months the Session demanded his demission and he was ordered to confine himself to his own parish. This was recalled when certain articles were agreed to at Falkland 16th June 1608. In consequence of a riot in the burgh to which he gave countenance he was dismissed by the Privy Council and ordered to transport himself out of the burgh before 10th Jan. 1616. These persecutions, however, rendered him only more popular with his parishioners. On 12th May 1609 the King assigned him 500 merks for stipend, which sum he bequeathed for the support of the minister in all time coming. He was trans. to Markinch in 1616.

JOHN MICHAELSON, M.A. (St Andrews 1583); adm. to Auchtertool about 1588; trans. to Markinch in 1589; signed petition against the introduction of Episcopacy, 1st July 1606, but showed his inconsistency by being nominated Constant Moderator of Presb. by Assembly, Dec. that year; was a member of the Episcopal party at the conference at Falkland 4th May 1609; app. clerk of the Diocesan Synod of St Andrews 9th Oct. 1610; trans. and adm. 25th Jan. 1616; D.D. (1621); was one of the Commissioners for Church Discipline 21st Oct. 1634; dep. for contumacy 7th Feb. 1639. Being called upon to subscribe the Covenant 12th March 1640, he excused himself on the ground of age and inability to travel but was given from 19th March till Whitsunday to comply, and on 9th July he was appointed to make his repentance within the Kirk of Burntisland, but did not do so. He marr. DYSART, FIRST CHARGE.

[The old church of Dysart is dedicated to St Serf. It is now a picturesquely placed ruin, about 135 feet long, with a noble tower. Near the old church is St Serf's Cave, which has been utilised as a hermitage. The parish of Dysart was a prebend of the Collegiate Church of St Mary on the Kirk Heugh at St Andrews. A Second Charge for this parish has existed since 1607. A new parish church was built in 1802. There was within the bounds a chapel of St Denys.]

JOHN SCRIMGEOUR of Wester Bow-1606 hill, Auchterderran, born about 1567, son of William S. of Myres; proposed for Auchtermuchty 22nd June 1592; was a min. without charge in Presb. of Dundee 5th Nov. 1602; adm. to Dysart before 1604; trans. and adm. here before 26th Feb. 1606. When the six brethren were tried at Linlithgow 10th Jan. 1606 for holding the General Assembly at Aberdeen in opposition to the King's command, he accompanied them to their trial and went to prison with them. At the Synod in Aug. 1607 he opposed the Archbishop taking the chair in right of his office. For this he was confined to his parish by Royal command 24th Sept. but was afterwards allowed freedom within the bounds of the Presbytery, and was relieved from his confinement 28th July 1614. He joined in a Protest with fifty-four other mins. for the Liberties of the Kirk 27th June 1617, and in the next year at the General Assembly at Perth, he boldly, though not a member, opposed the Five Articles and tendered reasons against each of them. He was cited before the Court of High Commission, 26th Jan. 1620, for not observing holy days and not administering the Communion in conformity with the conclusions of the Perth Assembly, and compearing, was deprived 1st March that year of all function in the Kirk and ordered to be, within six days, confined to his own house of Wester Bowhill. Notwithstanding this he preached in his own pulpit on the day appointed for the admission of his successor and on two other occasions; died at Wester Bowhill 1634, bequeathing fifty merks to the poor of the parish. He marr. Grizel, daugh. and co-heiress of Robert Forrester of Boquhan, who survived him, and had issue—James of Wester Gartmore; Henry; Gilbert; Isabella; Christian; Helen.—[*Reg. Mag. PRESBYTERY OF CUPAR

[In April 1581 there was before the General Assembly a proposal to establish a Presbytery at Falkland. That plan was not carried out, but, on 9th Sept. 1591, the new Court was erected with its seat at Cupar-Fife. In a letter from Archbishop Gledstones to King James VI., dated 9th June 1611, the Prelate suggests "that your Majestie give directione and charge to me that the Exercise at Cupar be dissolved, and out the breach thereof ane other be established at Falkland ; specially since, in the first erectione of Presbyteries, Anno 1581, Falkland was appointed ane special place for ane Presbyterie, swa that there sal be ane gude warrant thairfor." On 5th Aug. 1611, King James wrote to the Archbishop in the terms desired, and then, in obedience to the royal wish, the Presbytery removed its sittings to Falkland. The Synod of Fife met on 4th of Sept. following, and the Presbytery's change of seat was fully considered. In the end the Synod instructed the Lord Archbishop "to deal with the King's Majestie" that the Presbytery be brought back to Cupar. "Sundry gude causses and considerationnes" are stated in behalf of this course, notably that "in Winter, or efter greit weittes in Summer," Falkland was not accessible. The Register of the Presbytery begins at 15th Oct. 1646. There is a gap from 20th Sept. 1660 to 5th April 1693. During the five or six last years of that time the Presbyteries of St Andrews and Cupar were united.]

CULTS.

[The church of Cults belonged to the College of St Salvator at St Andrews. At Pitlessie in the parish three fairs were held in honour of St Malrubh, St Katherine, and St Philip.]

JOHN BALFOUR, believed to be the 1563 "vicar of Quiltis" who witnessed a charter on 8th Dec. 1550. Having embraced the Reformed faith he retained
 the living without any formal recognition;
 removed by General Assembly 25th June 1563 and placed in "an obscurer congregation according to the measure of his gifts."
 He probably became reader in a parish (unidentified).—[Booke of the Kirk; *Reg.

 its Ministers*, 2.]

JOHN RUTHERFORD [or RUTHER-1563 FURD], born about 1520, was a native of Jedburgh and probably belonged to the same family as Samuel Rutherford (also born near Jedburgh). He studied under Nicolaus Gruchius at Guienne, Bordeaux, where George Buchanan was Professor of Latin. In 1547 R. accompanied Gruchius and Buchanan to the new University of Coimbra in Portugal, where he spent some years. In 1552 he proceeded to Paris. His scholarship brought him under the notice of Archbishop Hamilton, who appointed him to the Chair of Humanity at St Andrews. In 1555 he declined an invitation to return to Bordeaux and in 1557 he became Dean of the Faculty of Arts at St Andrews, where he was entrusted with the chief part of the education of the Admirable Crichton. Having espoused the Reformed faith while abroad, he was declared by the General Assembly 20th Dec.
 1560 "one of those most qualified for ministering and teaching," and on 25th June 1563 he was ord. to this charge, which was a parish in the gift of his college. He served on various committees of the General Assembly. By the Assembly 5th March 1570, for "not serving his cure at least certain tymes in the year" (probably winter), he was admonished "to amend the said fault in tymes coming, otherwise the Kirk will proceed against him as ane neglector of dewtie." He died between 20th Sept. and 18th Dec. 1577, "at this time the most celebrated master of scholastic philosophy in Scotland." He marr.
 Christian Forsyth, and had issue—John,
 min. of St Andrews, and probably others.

CUPAR.

[Cupar-Fife and Tarvit.—These parishes were united in 1618.

Cupar-Fife.—The church of Cupar was dedicated to St Christopher. It belonged to the Priory of St Andrews. A Second Charge for this parish was founded in 1625. The Black Friars had a convent in Cupar, dedicated to St Katherine. Fairs of St James and St Martin were held in this parish.

Tarvit.—The church of Tarvit was dedicated to St Michael. It belonged to the Abbey of Cambuskenneth.]

ROBERT MONTGOMERY, settled in the ministry (perhaps here) in 1562.
1562 He was requested by the Assembly 26th June 1564, to supply Largo every alternate Sunday until other provision should be made. A Commission was app.
by the Assembly 27th Dec. that year regarding mutual complaints from him and the magistrates of Cupar; trans. to Dunblane in 1567.

of the Catholic Lords; trans. and adm. in 1604; signed the Protest against introduction of Episcopacy 1st July 1606;
was summoned to London by the King's Letter 21st May that year, where he stoutly defended the lawfulness of the Aberdeen Assembly in a speech against the Lord Advocate, Sir Thomas Hamilton.
After being detained a month, he was committed in charge to Dr Dove, bishop of Peterborough, but with five of his brethren obtained permission from the English Privy Council to return to his parish 8th March 1607. He was nominated constant Moderator of Presbytery in 1606;
was a member of Assembly in 1608, and of the Conference at Falkland in 1609, and shortly after was confined to his parish, but this restraint was taken off by the Privy Council 28th July 1614. On 27th June 1617 he signed the Protestation for the Liberties of the Kirk, opposed the Five Articles in the General Assembly of 1618
which were then agreed to, was app.
a min. of Edinburgh that year; was unsuccessfully accused before the High Commission 20th Aug. 1619, of being the author of a book entitled Perth Assemblée, or having a hand in it, and his removal
to Edinburgh was refused 15th Oct. 1620; died 20th May 1642, aged about 76. He raised the spire of the church from the battlements at his own expense and bequeathed a sum of money for the benefit of the poor and for the education of poor children. He marr. Janet Smyth, who survived him, and had issue—Barbara (marr. David Dalgleish, min. of this parish).

His appointment to Dunbog was contested with great bitterness and determination by the people of the parish, and an outrage at the manse led to a series of memorable civil and criminal trials. The bush of a cartwheel was filled with gunpowder and exploded under cloud of night in front of one of the manse windows. Happily, no one was injured, but the offence led to a trial before the High Court of Justiciary at Perth, in which many prominent persons were implicated. Though the culprit was not convicted, a young woman, well known in the parish, was sentenced to five years' penal servitude for libel. All this had such a nerve-shattering effect upon E. that ever afterwards he was obliged to hold his head with his hand while preaching. By kindly ways and the quiet yet faithful discharge of his duties, he overcame the local animosity and gained the general esteem of his parishioners. He was a man of wide reading and cultured tastes. He marr. 29th Sept. 1891, Janet Robertson, daugh. of Seath Martin, farm grieve, Higham, Dunbog, and Margaret Simpson; she survived him and marr. (2) 15th Dec. 1903, William Cartwright.—[The Border Almanac (1897), 95.]

(1890); licen. by Presb. of Arbroath May 1890; assistant at St Mary's, Dumfries, and in this parish; ord. 17th Dec. 1896. Marr. 15th April 1903, Mary Agnes (decree of nullity 12th Dec. 1903), daugh. of Rear-Admiral Maitland of Lindores.

FALKLAND, OF OLD KILGOUR.

[The church of Falkland belonged to the Priory of St Andrews. In it there was an altar of St Ninian. A place of worship in the parish was known as the Chapel of Our Lady on the Hill. Near the manse are Our Lady's Well and St John's Well. Both are upon land which of old belonged to the Order of the Knights of the Temple. A fair of St Angus was held at Falkland.

David, Duke of Rothesay, the elder son of Robert III., was imprisoned in the Castle of Falkland, and there he died in 1402. The assertion that he was murdered stands upon but slender foundation. Not long after the Duke's death, the lands of Falkland became royal property, and the castle was at times the residence of James I. James II. dwelt frequently here, and he appears to have been the first builder of Falkland Palace, to which his successors made additions and alterations at various times. James V. especially much improved the Palace. In it, in 1461, Margaret of Anjou, the exiled Queen of Henry VI. of England, and her son, Edward, Prince of Wales, dwelt as the guests of James IV. It was at Falkland, too, that James IV. entertained in 1496, Perkin Warbeck, the Flemish pretender, who posed as Richard, Duke of York, brother of Edward V. James VI., a great lover of the chase, was fond of Falkland. When Charles I. came back to Scotland, he did not omit to visit his Palace here. Charles II., too, made this his headquarters for a time. It was in his reign that a great part of the noble structure was burned down.]

NEWBURGH.

[The district now forming this parish was of old part of Abdie, and was ministered to by a chapel of St Katherine. In 1632 the parish of Newburgh was disjoined and erected. A fair of St Katherine was held in Newburgh, and also a Lammas fair. There was a Well of the Nine Maidens in this parish and, at Lindores beside the Abbey, a Well of St Andrew. St Andrew's Tironensian Abbey of Lindores was founded here in 1178 by David, Earl of Huntingdon, brother of Malcolm IV. and of William the Lion. In its choir was buried the Prince Alexander, elder son of Alexander III. There too was laid David, Duke of Rothesay, son of Robert III. He died at the Castle of Falkland on 26th March 1402. The ruins of the Abbey are now but scanty. The church has been about 180 feet long, and of stately proportions, with wide transepts. Mugdrum Cross and Cross Macduff are remarkable ancient monuments in the neighbourhood.]

 was the person whose immoralities had been described by Tobias Smollett twenty years before in chapter eighty-one of his novel Peregrine Pickle, he gave up the appointment. On his departure Lady Vane, with whom was standing Charles Fox, put a ring on his finger, remarking,
 "Had these wan cheeks been twenty years younger your Scotch pride might have been vanquished." He was licen.
 by Presb. of Kirkcaldy 14th May 1777;
 pres. by John Hay Balfour of Leys Aug.
 1780, but owing to much opposition and a competing presentation by the Town Council of Newburgh who objected to Stuart because he wore silk stockings and buckled shoes, the settlement was delayed.
 His ordination on 1st Sept. 1785 was carried through under protection of the military,
 and the parishioners in their contempt smeared the pulpit with filth, and afterwards erected a meeting-house in the parish.
 By his prudence and perseverance, S. so overcame the dislike of the people, that on a vacancy in the meeting-house its adherents consulted him in the choice of a successor; D.D. (Edinburgh, 27th March 1794); died unmarr. 5th May 1819. He was affianced to Euphemia (who died before the day fixed for their marriage), daugh. of George Clephane of Carslogie.

PRESBYTERY OF ST ANDREWS

[There is evidence that this Court was erected in 1581. The Register of the Presbytery begins at 13th Oct. 1586. There are gaps in the Record from 20th April 1587 to 9th Oct. 1589, from 30th Oct. 1594 to 9th Oct. 1595, from 12th Dec. 1605 to 20th Oct. 1641, and from 28th Sept. 1687 to 18th April 1693. This last blank covers the time when the Presbyteries of St Andrews and Cupar were united.]

ABERCROMBIE, OR ST MONANS.

[The church of Abercrombie, now ruined, was dedicated to St Margaret. It belonged to the Priory of St Andrews. Of old this was a very small parish, but, on 21st Oct. 1646, the Synod of Fife disjoined St Monans church and the barony of that name from the parish of Kilconquhar, and added these subjects to Abercrombie. At the same time, St Monans church was made the church of this parish, instead of the church at Abercrombie, which was smaller, and less accessible to most of the inhabitants. Abercrombie remains the official name of the parish, but the church is St Monans. The building, which is over 50 feet long, has a chancel, a tower, and spacious transepts, but no nave has ever been built. It was of old the church of a little priory of the Black Friars dedicated to St Monan, which King David II. erected in or about 1369. Beside it there is a Well of St Monan.]

ANSTRUTHER EASTER.

[A church was built here in 1634. In 1641 the parish of Anstruther Easter was disjoined from Kilrenny. Until 1713 there was no manse. The house then secured for the purpose is a picturesque one, and has an interesting history. It was built in 1590 by James Melville, min. of Kilrenny, the famous autobiographer. The house was his own property, and was sold by his son Ephraim Melville. A fair of St Carran was held in this parish.]

ANSTRUTHER WESTER.

[The church of Anstruther Wester was dedicated to St Ethernan. It belonged to the Priory of Pittenweem. Two fairs were held in this parish, that of Our Lady in Lenton and St Nicholas' fair in December. The Isle of May forms part of the parish. In it stand the ruins of St Adrian's Priory. There was on the Isle an early Celtic monastery of small size. This David I. converted into a Benedictine Priory, and later Alexander III. changed that into an Augustinian foundation. The ruins are interesting, and the ancient Well of Our Lady remains.]

CRAIL.

[In early times the church of Crail was dedicated to St Malrubb, but there was a later dedication to St Mary. The church belonged to the Cistercian Nunnery of Haddington. A collegiate foundation was given to this church in 1517. Within the building there were altars of the Holy Rood, St Michael, St Katherine, St John the Baptist, St James, St John the Evangelist, St Bartholomew, St Stephen, and St Nicholas. At Kilminning, in the parish, there was a chapel of St Monan. From 1600 to 1646 this parish had a Second Charge. A Roodmas fair was held at Crail.]

JOHN MELVILL, became min. in 1560 1560, though not universally acknowledged as such, as appears from his complaint, 5th Oct. 1561, that certain persons threatened to take him out of the pulpit "be the luggis and chais him out of the town," for which offence they were obliged to make penitential confession. On 27th Dec. 1565, the Assembly interdicted him from solemnizing a marriage until an objection to it was first heard by the Superintendent and two others. [He was afterwards min. of Spott.]

THOMAS KINNEAR, elected by the 1566 bailies, council, and community with consent of the Superintendent and adm. before 25th Feb. 1566; pres. to the

Provostry by James VI. 18th Dec. 1575; dep. by General Assembly Oct. 1577. He was pres. by the magistrates and council to the prebend of St Nicolas' Altar in the College Kirk of Crail 25th Nov. 1572, but his duties being neglected the magistrates on 15th Nov. 1577 declared the office vacant. He was banished the burgh, 11th Jan. 1579, on a charge of adultery.—[Reg. Assig.; Crail Council Reg.; Row's Hist.; Wodrow Miscell.]

JOHN EDMESTOUN, trans. from 1578 Tulliebole in 1578; pres. to the vicarage pensionary by James VI. 3rd April 1581, holding the prebend of St James's Altar in the College Kirk of Crail and resigning that of St Katherine in the same church; trans. to High Kirk, Edinburgh, in 1584.

HENRY LEITCH, adm. before 12th 1586 Jan. 1586; trans. to Auchtermuchty in 1593.

ANDREW MONCREIFF, son of Sir 1593 William M. of that ilk and Jean Oliphant; adm. to Kilconquhar in 1576; app. by Privy Council, 6th March 1589, one of the commissioners for preservation of the "true religion" in the sheriffdom of Fife, and nominated by the Assembly, 25th April 1593, one of three to visit the Presbyteries of Lothian; trans. and adm. 20th Sept. 1593; died 8th Aug. 1596. He marr. Janet Moncreiff (who survived him, and marr. (2) William Murray, min. of this parish), and had issue—Andrew, died before 16th Dec. 1643; John, min. of Kinghorn; James; William.—[*Reg. ANDREW DUNCAN, Regent in St 1596 Leonard's College, St Andrews, and Rector of the Grammar School of Dundee from 1571; pres. by James, Lord Lindsay; ord. 11th Sept. 1596; coll. 2nd March 1597; attended the Assembly at Aberdeen, 2nd July 1605, despite the royal authority. For this he was imprisoned at Blackness, tried at Linlithgow with four others, 10th Jan. 1606, found guilty and banished the kingdom for life. He settled at Bordeaux and became a Professor of Theology in the College of Rochelle May 1607. He returned to Scotland before 1st July 1613, submitted to the King, and obtained permission to remain, resuming his ministry in this parish. He was summoned before the Court of High Commission, 13th April 1619, but declined its authority, was suspended 22nd, confined to the town of Dundee, and dep. 10th May 1620. In 1621 he presented a supplication in name of certain mins. to the Lord Clerk Register, for which he was confined by the Privy Council in Dunbarton Castle. He was liberated 2nd Oct., and allowed to reside in any parish but Crail or Edinburgh. He went to Kilrenny, but was obliged to leave there for Berwick-upon-Tweed, where his great pecuniary difficulties were relieved "almost miraculously" by an unknown lady; died in 1626, aged about 66. He marr. Jean Liwell, and had issue—John; William; David; Bessie, and three others, who predeceased him. Publications—Latina Grammatica, par. prior sive etymologia Latina in usum radorum (Edinburgh, 1595); Appendix Etymologicæ ad copiam exemplorum (Edinburgh, 1595); Rudimenta Pietatis (Edinburgh, 1595); Studiorum Puerilium Clavis miro quodam compendio (Edinburgh, 1597); Admonition to the Hie Commission; Letters to the Bishop of St Andrews (Calderwood's Hist., vii., 181; *Orig. Andrews 1582); trans. and adm.

1594 from Second Charge, Cupar, 21st
July 1594. On 20th Oct. 1595, at a visitation, various charges were made against him, and he was dep. 29th July 1596,
"for doing disquiet to the whole Church
by the writing of an infamous and false libel (the heade of Blackerie doctrin resoluit in a Remist method) against David Black, min. of St Andrews, and spreading the same." He was reponed by the commissioners of the Assembly 23rd June 1597, but the Presb. refused to receive him. He took to the profession of medicine, but was adm. to Dairsie April 1611.

JAMES MELVILL [or MELVILLE],
 1590 born 26th July 1556, son of Richard M. of Baldovie, min. of Maryton, and Isobell Scrymgeour, and nephew of Andrew M.; educated privately, and at Univs. of St Andrews, B.A. (9th Feb. 1572), and Glasgow; became regent in St Andrews Univ. and assistant to his uncle Andrew M., Professor of Greek there; app. Professor of Hebrew and Oriental Languages there in 1580; ord. to Anstruther 17th Nov. 1586; was clerk to the "Convention of the maist wacryff and cearfull of the breithrin" Jan. 1588; was elected Moderator of the General Assembly 17th June 1589; app. by Privy Council one of four Commissioners for Preservation of the True Religion in the Sheriffdom of Fife; removed here 6th Oct. 1590; pres. to the vicarage by James VI. before 21st March 1592; coll. 12th April 1593. In the public affairs of the church he took a deep interest, and had powerful influence among his brethren, so that the King, to whom he had proved himself serviceable, strongly wished him to support the measures of Church polity which were in contemplation for subverting Presbyterianism and establishing Episcopacy in its place. All the efforts of royalty proved unavailing to that effect, and were only the means of rousing M. to greater decision. He strenuously supported the brethren condemned and banished for holding the Assembly at Aberdeen in 1605, and signed the Protest to Parliament with forty-one others, 1st July 1606, against the introduction of Episcopal government. In the same year, he was one of eight mins. called by the King to London, where he remained till 10th May 1606, when he was ordered to confine himself to Newcastle. Five months after, his friend and parishioner, Sir William Anstruther, authorised by the King, made him an offer of a bishopric, which he refused.

The elders of Kilrenny petitioned for his release Feb. 1608, and again July 1609, without avail. He was removed in 1610 to Berwick-upon-Tweed. Further solicitations were made for him by his parishioners, and again renewed in 1611 and 1612. Under the anxiety and grief he felt for the state of the Church, his health declined and he died at Berwick-upon-Tweed 20th Jan. 1614, where a tablet was erected to his memory 20th Jan. 1914. Calderwood says, "He was one of the wisest directoures of Kirk affairs that our Kirk had in his tyme, and was ever employed by the General Assemblies and other publick meetings. He acted his part so gravelie, so wiselie, so calmlie, that the adverserie could gett no vantage." "Though gentle and not easily provoked, he possessed great sensibility, could vindicate himself with spirit, and testified an honest indignation at whatever was base and unprincipled, especially in the conduct of men of his own profession." He marr. (1) 1st May 1583, Elizabeth (died about 1610), daugh. of John Durie, min. of Edinburgh, and had issue — Ephraim, min. of Pittenweem; Andrew, born 9th July 1586, died 1588; Andrew, born Aug. 1588, died before Jan. 1614; Margaret, born 28th Aug. 1593, died in infancy; John, min. of Newton, born 27th March 1595; Isabella Anna, born 1597-8; (2) before July 1612, Deborah, daugh. of Richard Clerke, B.A., vicar of Berwick-upon-Tweed; she survived him. " . . . he was an Isralite, indeed,
Who, without guilt, the flock of Christ did feed;
Tender of weaklings, faithful unto all,
He spared the faults of neither great nor small,
Of sin and vice he was a bold reprovcr.
Of Zion's welfare still a zealous lover;
Her peace was matter of his fervent prayer,
His public labour, and his private care,
This preacher showed himself what few can do
A Barnabas and Boanerges too;
A son of thunder, with alarming noise;
A son of comfort, with a charming voice."

LEUCHARS.

[Leuchars Church was given to the Priory of St Andrews by Nes, Earl of Mar, and was dedicated to St Athelnash by Bishop de Bernham in 1244. All that remains of the ancient church is the chancel and apse, which are of great richness and beauty—one of the finest examples of Norman architecture in Scotland. This interesting old building was restored for public worship in July 1914. In the parish were a chapel of St Benet and a Well of Our Lady. A fair of St Benet was held

PATRICK COUPER [or COWPER], 1692 born Scone 1660; educated at Univ. of St Andrews; M.A. (22nd July 1678); was much persecuted as a Presbyterian. One Sunday evening, when engaged in family worship, he narrowly escaped capture by the magistrates of Perth, and was several times compelled to flee from that city. In 1679 he was taken prisoner there one Saturday on his way to a field meeting, though unarmed, called before two of the bailies, and imprisoned for nonconformity, until after the battle of Bothwell Bridge when he was released under the royal indemnity. Next year he was again detained in prison for three months for attending conventicles, but was liberated by his parents paying a fine of fifty merks, and a fee to the jailer of £11. A third time he was seized at Elith-head in Strathaven when on duty on horseback as a sentinel at a conventicle. He was taken to Perth where he was received with derision by the Episcopal congregation, and was kept in prison for three months, fined £106, and bound over to enter into ward again under a severe penalty. Having determined to go abroad he sailed for Holland, and from thence to Königsberg. He returned to Holland and obtained a licence to preach the Gospel at Rotterdam in Dec. 1684. He proceeded to Scotland, landed at Borrowstounness, and travelled to Perth, where he wrote to his wife to join him, but they were forced to flee to Edinburgh, and had to leave that city after two months as a search was made for him. He returned to Perth, spent the winter there, and returned to Holland in the spring with his wife, his mother-in-law, and his brother Thomas, afterwards Professor of Divinity. In Feb. 1687 he came back to Kirkcaldy and found the Toleration had been proclaimed. He again went to Holland in Aug., and when further restrictions were taken off he came home, landing a second time at Borrowstounness, was invited to preach at St Ninians; ord. in the meeting-house at Bannockburn 14th Aug. 1688; called 4th April, trans. and adm. 5th May 1692, his admission being opposed by certain Jacobite heritors who barricaded the church. The magistrates, however, broke open the doors and drove out the offenders; died 14th June 1740. "He studied to follow a clear and distinct method in his sermons, and abhorred jingling, bombastic words, that airy self-seeking men affect much." In bodily appearance he was "small and thin," and when young nearly lost the sight of one of his eyes through illness, yet at seventy-seven he could read the smallest print without spectacles even in candle light. He was the first who (in 1716) proposed the raising of the Ministers' Widows' Fund. He marr. June 1682, Janet (died 1702), daugh. of George Halyburton, min. of Aberdalgie, and had issue—Andrew, a licentiate; Thomas; Joseph; Janet (marr. Marr. 9th July 1903, Margaret Chalmers, youngest daugh. of John Bowman, town clerk and banker, Pittenweem, and Martha Young.

ST ANDREWS.

[The site of St Andrews was an early home of the Celtic Church. At Mucross, as it was then called, St Kenneth of Achabo carried on mission work in the sixth century. There either he, or someone before him, founded the Christian settlement to which the name of Kilrimont was given. It seems clear too that relics of St Andrew were brought to Kilrimont from Hexham in Northumberland, at the instance of King Angus MacFergus, in or about 736. Not long after, there arose the church called Kilrule, of which St Rule's Chapel is the standing successor. Its lofty square tower, rising to 110 feet, and its walls still strong to a height of 34 feet, are lasting witnesses of the faith of old Celtic times. Of the later Celtic Church the chief memorial is St Mary's on the Kirk Heugh. Of that building little is now left but the foundations. These show clearly the outlines of an edifice with chancel, nave, and transepts, over 100 feet in length. It was apparently to an earlier monastic building on this site that King Constantine III. came as a brother of the foundation, when he resigned his crown in 942, and here afterwards he ruled as abbot. St Mary's was endowed as a Chapel Royal (Capella Domini Regis) by Alexander II. in 1250, and thus its old monastic character came to an end. In 1504 it received a collegiate endowment.

At an early time a parish church was built in St Andrews. It was dedicated to the Holy Trinity. That church belonged to the Priory of St Andrews. The rector of the parish church of the Holy Trinity was Archdeacon of St Andrews ex officio. The church had many altars, including dedications to the Holy Rood, St Mary, St Katherine, St Laurence, St John the Baptist, St Bartholomew, St James, All Saints, St Fillan, St Duthac, St Magdalene, St Michael, St Fergus, St Ninian, St Nicholas, St Anne, St Peter, St Botolph, St Palladius, St Aubert, St Barbara, St Bride, St Columba, St Tridwal, and St Damian. A Second Charge was founded for the parish of St Andrews in 1589, and from 1593 to 1620 a Third Charge was maintained. The church itself has often been altered and added to. A fine restoration, with some additions, took place in the early years of the twentieth century. The church is now one of the most notable in the country. A very interesting feature of it is the elaborate monument to Archbishop Sharp erected soon after his murder. It is the work of Dutch artists. Eminent among the many religious foundations of St Andrews is the College of St Salvator with its noble church and tower. This splendid addition to the resources of the ancient University was erected by Bishop James Kennedy in 1450. It soon rose to be a centre of learning, and one of its early Principals was the famous scholar and historian John Major. Among the altars gifted to St Salvator's Collegiate Church were dedications to St Katherine, St John, and St Olaf.

During the early years of the Reformed Church, the General Assembly held several sessions at St Andrews. Of these the first was in 1572. At that time John Knox, then in poor health, was living in the ancient Cathedral city, a fact which seems to have had considerable weight in fixing the Assembly's place of meeting. It was at St Leonard's that the supreme Church Court met. The chief meetings were held in the old parish church of St Leonard, and probably all of them took place there, for the accommodation in St Leonard's College was then but small. The later sessions of the Assembly at St Andrews in 1641 and 1642 were held at St Salvator's College. The religious services were held in the College church there, and the other meetings in the hall of the College. In 1274 St Mary's Convent of the Black Friars was founded at St Andrews. The little fragment of its church now surviving gives a very favourable impression of its architectural merit. In 1450 the Grey Friars also established a priory in the city. But the chief monastic feature of this ecclesiastical metropolis was the Augustinian Priory of St Andrews, founded in 1114. It was endowed with the wide possessions of the ancient Celtic Abbey, and soon attained to vast wealth. The Cathedral was built close beside it in 1162. It is a great building, even in its ruin, its interior length extending to 358 feet. Among the many shrines in it were dedications to St Andrew, St Katherine, and St John the Evangelist. Besides St Rule's, there were in this parish chapels dedicated to St Peter, St Bride, St Mirin, St Cormac, and St Magdalene. Within the bounds were also Wells of St Salvator, St Leonard, St Andrew, and St John. There were three great fairs in St Andrews, those of Our Lady Day in Lentron, and St Andrew's Day, and the Senzie Market, held during the summer session of the University.]

ADAM HERIOT of the family of Trabroun, East Lothian, born about 1559 1514; was a conventual brother of the Augustinian Order of the Abbey of St Andrews who embraced the reformed faith; he was removed to Aberdeen in 1560, but retained the vicarage of St Andrews till his death 28th Aug. 1574.—[M'Crie's Knox, ii.; Spotswood's Hist.; Maitland Miscell., iii.]

JOHN KNOX, the Reformer, said to be 1580 min. here 31st March 1560, in the Kirk-Session Record of St Andrews. —[Hay Fleming's Kirk-Session Rec., Scot. Hist. Socy., i., 27.]

CHRISTOPHER GOODMAN, born 1560 Chester, about 1519, son of William G., merchant, the representative of an old Cheshire family; educated at Brasenose College, Oxford; B.A. (4th Feb. 1541), M.A. (13th June 1544); app. senior student of Christ's Church (in 1547) and Lady Margaret Professor of Divinity in 1548; B.D. (1551). During the reign of Queen Mary he went into exile at Strasburg, and joined the Reformers at Frankfort, but, disputes having arisen about Church order, he withdrew to Geneva, where he was elected joint pastor with John Knox in Sept. 1555, and assisted him in the preparation of his Book of Common Order and was also employed with Coverdale in translating the Geneva edition of the Scriptures. At the urgent entreaty of Knox he went to Scotland in Sept. 1559, when he acted as escort to Knox's wife and family. In Nov. he became min. of Ayr; was nominated by the Lords of the Congregation min. here 19th July 1560; was a member of first General Assembly 19th Dec. that year, and of the Assemblies June 1562, June and Dec. 1563, June and Dec. 1564, and June 1565; returned to England in Nov. or Dec. 1565; became chaplain to Sir Henry Sidney, Lord-Deputy of Ireland, Jan. 1566; was coll.

in 1570 to the Archdeaconry of Richmond and to the rectory of Alford, of which offices he was deprived shortly afterwards for nonconformity. He died at Chester after 4th June 1603 (on which date he was visited by Archbishop Ussher, who in after days used to repeat some of the dying man's "grave, wise speeches") and was buried in St Bride's Church there. ROBERT HAMILTON, was one of those found "maist qualified for minstre-1566 ing and teaching" by the General Assembly 20th Dec. 1560; adm. before 4th Sept. 1566; was a member of Assemblies of June 1567, July 1568, July 1569, March 1571, March 1572, March 1573, April and June 1576, being Moderator in that of 6th March 1571. He held in conjunction the office of Regent or Master, and afterwards of Provost or Principal in the New College, St Andrews, till the General Assembly of April 1576 decided against his holding that office and ordered him to remain with his ministry of St Andrews. Refusing to comply, he was deprived of his Provostry after 7th July 1579, but was retained in the ministry, and died in Edinburgh, 16th April 1581. He marr. Elspeth, daugh. of John Traill, younger, of Magask, and granddaugh. of John Traill of Blebo, and had issue—Robert; James; Thomas; Helen, who had a daugh. by Robert Hamilton, min. of Kennoway. ROBERT BLAIR, born Irvine, 1593, 1639 sixth son of John B. of Windyedge, a merchant-adventurer and cadet of Blair, and Beatrix Mure of the Rowallan family; educated at Univ. of Glasgow; M.A. (1612); app. regent there in 1615; licen. in 1616. In consequence of the appointment of John Cameron, D.D., to the Principalship, who favoured Episcopacy, B. resigned his regency, went to Ireland on the invitation of Lord Claneboy, and was sometime min. of a Presbyterian congregation at Bangor. He was ord. thereto by Robert Echlin, Bishop of Down, and some of the neighbouring pastors. B. narrates that he was "very careful to inform him [Echlin] both of what accusations had been laid against me of disaffection to the civil powers, and that I could not submit to the use of the English liturgy nor Episcopal government. But he having been informed of my altercations with Dr Cameron, said, 'I know all that business,' and added that he was confident of procuring a free entry for me, which he quickly effectuated. . . . Having been invited to preach by the patron, and by Mr Gibson, the sick incumbent, I yielded to their invitation and preached there three Sabbath days. After that, several of the aged and most respectful persons in the congregation came to me by order of the whole, and informed me that they were edified by the doctrine delivered by me, and intreated me not to leave them. Likewise the dying man did several ways encourage me. He professed great sorrow for his having been a dean. He condemned Episcopacy more strongly than ever I durst do: he charged me in the name of Christ, and as I expected his blessing on my ministry, not to leave that good way wherein I had begun to walk, and then drawing my head towards his bosom with both his arms, he laid his hands on my head, and blessed me. Within a few days after he died, and my admission was accomplished as quickly as might be, in the following way. The Viscount Claneboy did, on my request, inform the Bishop how opposite I was to Episcopacy and their liturgy, and had the influence to procure my admission on easy and honourable terms. Yet, lest his lordship had not been plain enough, I declared my opinion fully to the Bishop at our first meeting, and found him yielding beyond my expectation. The Bishop said to me, 'I hear good of you, and will impose no conditions on you: I am old and can teach you ceremonies, and you can teach me substance, only I must ordain you, else neither I nor you can answer the law nor brook the land.' I answered him that his sole ordination did utterly contradict my principles; but he replied both wittily and submissively, 'Whatever you account of Episcopacy, yet I know you account a presbytery to have divine warrant; will you not receive ordination from Mr

[Robert] Cunningham [min. at Holywood] and the adjacent brethren, and let me come in among them in no other relation than a presbyter?' This I could not refuse, and so the matter was performed," 10th July 1623. Echlin, however, turned to be his bitter enemy, and in Sept. 1631, B. was suspended from the exercise of his ministerial functions, the ostensible reason being that he had taken part (with John Livingston) in a celebration of the Lord's Supper at the Kirk of Shotts; and on 4th May 1632 he was dep. Through the intervention of Charles I. sentence was removed in May 1634, but he was again dep. by Echlin in Nov. that same year. He was now bent on emigrating to New England, but the ship in which he and other mins. sailed was driven back by stress of weather, a sign, as B. thought, that his services were still required at home. The next months were spent partly in Scotland and England, and an order for his apprehension being issued, he escaped to Scotland, and was adm. to the Second Charge of Ayr in July 1638. He was invited to go to France as chaplain to Colonel Hepburn's Regiment, but after embarking at Leith was threatened by a soldier whom he had reproofed for swearing, and thereupon went ashore again. He petitioned the Privy Council for liberty to preach the Gospel; adm. to this charge 8th Oct. 1639. In 1640 he accompanied the Scottish army to England and assisted at the negotiations for the Peace of Ripon; pres. by Charles I. 8th Nov. 1641; preached in Ulster for three months during 1642, the Presbyterians there having petitioned the General Assembly for a supply of mins. after the Irish Rebellion of 1641; attended Lord President Spottiswood and others to the scaffold in 1645; was elected Moderator of General Assembly 3rd June 1646; app. Chaplain-in-Ordinary to King Charles I. that year; app. by Commission of Assembly in 1648, one of a Committee to endeavour to get Cromwell to establish "a uniformity of religion in England." On the division of the Church in 1650, he inclined to the Resolutioners and endeavoured to effect a union between them and the Protesters; was summoned to London by the Protector in 1654, but excused himself on the ground of ill-health; was named by the Council of England that year on the Committee for authorising admissions to the ministry in Perth, Fife, and Angus. On the establishment of Episcopacy he was removed from his charge Sept. 1661, confined to Musselburgh and subsequently to Kirkcaldy (where he was for three years and a half), and afterwards at Meikle Couston, parish of Aberdour, Fife, where he died 27th Aug. 1666, and was buried in the churchyard of Aberdour. He marr. (1) 16th July 1626, Beatrix (died July 1632, aged 27), daugh. of Robert Hamilton, merchant, burghess of Edinburgh, and had issue—James, min. of Dysart; Robert; Jean (marr. JOHN PARK, born Greenock, 14th Jan.

1854 1804, son of John P. of the White Hart Inn and Old Tontine Hotel there, and Mary, daugh. of John Weir; educated at Univs. of Glasgow and Aberdeen; licen. by Presb. of Greenock in 1829; assistant at the West Church, Greenock, and at Bonhill; ord. to St Andrew's Church, Rodney Street, Liverpool, 27th June 1831; trans. to Glencairn 24th Aug. 1843; pres. by Queen Victoria 5th May, trans. and adm. 7th Sept. 1854; D.D. (St Andrews 1854). In the spring of 1865 P. threw himself with his wonted interest into the performances of the St Andrews Choral Society, of which he was President. On the night when the Society gave its annual concert he was present on the platform. The programme had been completed except the "Hallelujah Chorus." When this began Dr P. stood up with the others, and turning to one beside him, remarked, "Is not this glorious?" With these words he sank to the ground, and on being removed to an adjoining room, said to his physician, "Is this not death?" He lingered till next morning, 8th April 1865, but never spoke again. In addition to being a preacher of rare eloquence, he was an accomplished musician, and his fondness for painting was scarcely less strong than his love of poetry. Publications—For an appreciative notice of Park, see Introduction by Principal Shairp to Songs Composed and in part Written by the late John Park, D.D. (Leeds, 1876); Lectures and Sermons (Edinburgh, 1865.) Among his best known songs are "The Miller's Daughter," "The Sunshine and the Swallows," "The Crusader's Return," and "Oh, an' I were where Gadie rins" (composed whilst a student.) — [Rogers's Modern Scottish Minstrel, 338; Modern Scottish Poets, ix., 73-9.]

(St Andrews 1909); Convener of Committee on Correspondence with the Scottish Church in England; died 6th Oct. 1924. Marr. 4th July 1888, Eliza Anne, daugh. of John Walker, W.S., and has issue—Eleanor Mabel, born 28th Sept. 1890; Patrick Lyon, B.A. (Cantab.), captain 7th Battalion The Black Watch (Royal Highlanders), T.F., born 14th July 1893, wounded and died at Lestrem, France, 11th April 1918; John Maxwell, 2nd lieut. R.F.A., born 15th Dec. 1898. During the incumbency of Dr Playfair the parish church halls were built, Boarhills was erected into a parish quoad sacra, and the town church, the church of the Holy Trinity, was completely restored (Peter MacGregor Chalmers, LL.D., Architect) at a cost of over £30,000. This work had been contemplated for half a century, and the execution of it is an outstanding monument to his indefatigable energy and business capacity. Publication—Order of Divine Service at the Re-dedication of the Parish Church of the Holy Trinity, St Andrews (St Andrews, 1909).

Feb. 1706.]

ALEXANDER SHIELDS, born 1661, son of James S., miller, Haughhead, parish of Earlstoun, Berwickshire, and Helen Brown, and brother of Michael S., author of Faithful Contendings Displayed; educated at Univ. of Edinburgh, where he graduated M.A., "with no small applause," whilst in his fifteenth year (7th April 1675). He studied theology at Utrecht. On returning home he made his way to London, was amanuensis to John Owen, D.D., and came into close touch with some of the leading Puritans, who persuaded him to accept licence as a preacher. In 1684 he was ord. min. of a congregation meeting in the Embroiderers' Hall. On 11th Jan. 1685 he was apprehended while preaching in a private house in Gutter Lane, from the words in Genesis xlix., 21: "Naphtali is a hind let loose,"—afterwards the title of his famous Treatise—and was confined in Newgate. After the death of Charles II. he was sent to Scotland and kept for a time in the Edinburgh Tolbooth, whence he passed to the dungeons of the Bass. After fourteen months he was again brought to Edinburgh and offered his liberty, on condition that he would cease from preaching and "live orderly." That he declined to do, and was recommitted to the Tolbooth, but escaped in female disguise about the end of Nov. 1686. Next month he cast in his lot with James Renwick, whose biographer he became. The two became fast friends, and collaborated in writing the Informatory Vindication, for which Renwick was condemned. S. was asked to superintend its publication, but failed to find a printer. He crossed to Holland, saw the work through the Press there, and busied himself with the completion of his Hind. After the Revolution he joined the Church of Scotland, and was received into communion, 25th Oct. 1690, with his associates, Thomas Linning and William Boyd. On 4th Nov. 1691 he was adm. chaplain to the Cameronian Regiment serving in the Netherlands, and was present at Namur and Steinkerk. On the Peace of Ryswick he returned home, was called to this charge 4th Feb. 1696, and adm. 15th Sept. 1697. Appointed senior min.

to the Second Darien Expedition, he sailed in the Rising Sun 24th Sept. 1699, his charge at home being supplied by brethren in his absence. It is to be noted that S. and his companions were really the first foreign missionaries of the Church of Scotland, the Commission of Assembly having, on 21st July, charged them "particularly that you labour among the natives for their instruction and conversion, as you have access." On the failure of the Expedition, he sailed for Scotland, heart-broken by the profligacy of the settlers and the little success his labours had met among them, but died of malignant fever in the house of Isobel Murray, Port Royal, Jamaica, 14th June 1700. All attempts to identify his burial-place have failed. He was unmarr. Descendants of his brother Michael, who accompanied the Expedition, and of other members of his family are still found in Jamaica. S. was "of low stature, ruddy complexion, quick and piercing wit, full of zeal, and firm in the cause he espoused; pretty well skilled in most branches of learning, in arguing very ready, only somewhat fiery; but in writing on controversy he exceeded most men of that age." Publications—A Hind Let Loose, or an Historical Representation of the Testimonies of the Church of Scotland [the first edition did not bear the author's name, but was "By a Lover of True Liberty"] (n.p., 1687; Edinburgh, 1744; Glasgow, 1770, 1797; epitomised as A History of the Scotch Presbytery (1691); *An Elegie upon the Death of . . . THIRD CHARGE.

ROBERT YUILL, declared "sufficient" 1593 by the Presb. 9th Aug. 1593;
 proposed 13th Sept. 1593 that he should presently enter on the equal burden of the ministry with David Black and Robert Wallace, but decided he should continue as exhorter only. He is later described as preacher, teacher of the Evangel, master of the Hospital, treasurer to the poor, and vicar. On 2nd Nov. 1592 he laid two presentations to the vicarage before the Presb., one desiring him to be tried and adm. as reader, the other as min.
 He was thereupon app. reader. In 1603 he was app. Moderator of Presb. by George Gledstanes, but protesting, he did not accept office. He marr. Agnes Smith.—

ST LEONARD'S.

[In medieval times great numbers of pilgrims thronged to St Andrews, to visit the shrines and relics of the saints treasured there. In or about 1140, a hospital for the benefit of such pilgrims was founded in that city. It was dedicated to St Leonard, a famous patron of hospitals. This charitable institution at St Andrews, being very amply endowed, grew rich and accumulated wealth. It was therefore deemed right to assign a share of its income for local works of charity. Out of the hospital endowment an additional parish was provided for the Cathedral city. The new church was built beside the hospital, and, like it, was dedicated to St Leonard. Our earliest record tells of it as in full working in 1413. As time went on, the hospital was found to be of little practical use, there being ample provision otherwise for the needs of pilgrims. Therefore the charity was diverted to form a sort of nunnery or residential hospital for old women. That does not seem to have met with much success; and, in 1512, St Leonard's Hospital was converted into a college of St Andrews Univ. The old close connection between the foundation of 1140 and the adjoining parish church was kept up by the fact that the church was now also the chapel of the college. Patrick Hamilton, the martyr of the Reformation, taught in St Leonard's College, and others of its staff laboured in the cause of Church reform. Of these men and their comrades, their fellows were wont to say, "they have drunk of St Leonard's Well." The simile, of course, refers to the Holy Well of St Leonard, which supplied the college with water. In 1572 the General Assembly met in St Leonard's Church, a building whose ruins are still of much interest.

From the Reformation up till 1824 the Principal of St Leonard's College was also min. of this parish. In 1759 the church being ruinous, the Presb., at the request of the United College (who were practically sole heritors), ordered the min. and congregation to assemble for public worship in St Salvator's Chapel. In 1844 at the instance of the United College, St Salvator's Chapel (and neighbouring buildings) were disjoined from the parish of St Andrews and annexed to this parish quoad sacra tantum thus to "obtain the parish church situated within the bounds of the parish of St Leonard." In 1865 this decree of the Court of Teinds was virtually reduced by the Court of Session through an Action of Declarator at the instance of the United College, and which was not opposed by the heritors, that the college had the exclusive right and title in and to the chapel. The University Court intimated in 1898 that the chapel was no longer to be used as the parish church. After prolonged dispute the heritors (now including a considerable number of feuars in addition to the Univ.) were ordered to provide a church for the parish. The new parish church was dedicated on 28th July 1904.

In 1827 the Presb. designed a glebe, with ground for manse and offices for the parish, and an appeal by the United College was dismissed by the Court of Session in 1829. The minister (Professor James Hunter) then arranged with the heritors (at that time practically limited to the United College) to accept an annual payment in lieu of manse and glebe. This arrangement continued till about 1902. At the request of the United College the designed glebe was excambied for another piece of land in 1854. When the minister—consequent on the refusal in 1902 of the heritors to pay to him the usual sum in lieu of manse and glebe—intimated that he intended to take possession of his glebe, the Univ. on whose property the glebe lay, refused to cede it, alleging that the right of the church in the glebe had lapsed by the failure of the min. for over forty years to take possession of it. After much costly litigation the Courts decided against the min. He lost the old glebe, but got a more valuable new one, as well as a manse, garden, offices, etc. When the congregation removed to the new church in 1904, the Univ. refused to hand over inter alia a Communion Cup bearing the following inscription: "This Cup is dedicated to the use of the Holy Table in St Leonard's Church, in St Andrews, by a devout Widow as a free-will offering for the returne of prayer upon the XIII day of April MDCLXXXI." The decision of the Court was that the Univ. should have the custody of the Cup subject to the Church being entitled to the use of it.]

SYNOD OF ANGUS AND MEARNS

THE Synod of Angus and Mearns was disjoined from that of Aberdeen on 4th March 1701. The Register of this Court begins at 15th April 1701. An earlier volume held the Record from 1639 to near the middle of the seventeenth century. It was extant on 18th Nov. 1662, but no trace of it can now be found. In Oct. 1715 no meeting of Synod was held, because Dundee, and all the towns within the bounds, were in the hands of the insurgent Jacobites.

PRESBYTERY OF MEIGLE

[This Court was erected by the General Assembly in, or near, 1593. It was then made up of the parishes of Meigle, Airlie, Alyth, Bendochy, Blairgowrie, Coupar-Angus, Eassie, Nevay, Glenisla, Kettins, Kingoldrum, Lintrathen, Newtyle, Ruthven, Kirriemuir, Kinnettles, Cortachy, Rattray, and Glamis. The Register of the Presbytery begins at 8th Nov. 1659, and goes on in regular form till 15th March 1687. On 27th April 1687, through the action of the Bishop and Synod of Dunkeld, great changes were made upon the constitution and working of this Presbytery. Its name and place of meeting were changed from Meigle to Coupar-Angus. The parishes of Kettins, Newtyle, Eassie and Nevay, Airlie, Kingoldrum, Glenisla, Lintrathen, and Blairgowrie were excluded from it. It was then made to consist of the parishes of Meigle, Alyth, Coupar-Angus, Bendochy, and Ruthven, with the addition of those of Kinclaven, Cargill, Rattray, Kinloch, Clunie, and Lethendy taken from the Presbytery of Dunkeld; Auchterhouse, Abernyte, and Tealing, from that of Dundee, and St Martins taken from the Presbytery of Perth. It was, of course, intended to assign to some other jurisdiction the parishes severed from this Presbytery, but it does not appear that such action was ever carried out. On 2nd April 1689 these changes were all repealed, and the Presbyteries were restored to their old conditions, as at the beginning of 1687. The Presbytery of Meigle, however, was then united for a time to those of Dundee and Forfar. This was indeed but a temporary expedient due to special circumstances then arising, and the union did not last long. On 21st April 1703 the Presbytery of Meigle was severed from Dundee, and erected again as a separate Court. The Record of Presbytery begins again at 19th Oct. 1704. There are gaps in it from 15th April 1713 to 23rd April 1718, and from 18th Oct. 1749 to 9th Nov. 1768. Two volumes of the Register have unfortunately been lost. The later of these covered the time from 26th May 1655 to 17th Oct. 1659.]

AIRLIE.

[The church of Airlie was dedicated to St Medan. Near the old church were St Medan's Well and St Medan's Knowe. There was in the parish a chapel of St John the Baptist.]

PRESBYTERY OF FORFAR

[This Court was erected on 16th April 1611. To form it, the Parishes of Forfar, Tannadice and Aberlemno were taken from the Presbytery of Brechin; those of Rescobie, Idvie, Dunnichen, Kirkbuddo and Meathie from Arbroath; Glamis, Kirriemuir, Kinnettles, and Cortachy from Meigle, and Inverarity from Dundee. The Register of the Presbytery now fills eight volumes. The first of these covers the period from 29th Oct. 1662 to 7th March 1683. It is now amissing, but is said to exist still in private hands. From 1689 to 1717 this Presbytery was united to that of Dundee. It was disjoined again on 17th April 1717. The Record is taken up again on 1st May 1717, and is thenceforward complete. A volume containing the Record from 1650 to 1660 has been lost, and no trace of it can now be found.]

ABERLEMNO AND ALDBAR.

[These parishes were united early in the seventeenth century.

Aberlemno.—The church of Aberlemno belonged to the Priory of Restennet. The present church was erected in 1722, and was much restored in 1856. JOHN OCHTERLONY, born about 1623, son of John O., provost of 1655 Brechin; educated at Univ. of St Andrews; M.A. (1643); adm. before 1655; died in 1695. He presented a silver Communion cup in 1683, which is still in use. He marr. Mary Lindsay, who died Jan. 1678, and had issue—Catherine (marr. James Thomson, min. of Kinnell).—[St Andrews Tests., 11th Oct. 1681.]

JOHN OCHTERLONY of Flemington, 1690 born 1667; son of Alexander O., min. of Carmylie, and nephew of preceding; M.A. (Marischal College 1685); was assistant to his uncle about 1690, and was chamberlain on the Melgund estate. Adhering to Episcopacy, he was accused, 17th April 1701, of withdrawing the people from the parish church, and preaching to them in a meeting-house at Flemington. He regained possession of the church in 1703, but was ejected by the Justices of the Peace. He intruded again, 29th Nov. 1716, and was prosecuted, with others, before the Lords of Justiciary, 29th July 1717, for praying for Prince Charles, and various offences, but the charge was fallen from "in respect of His Majesty's Act of Grace." In 1722 the Kirk-Session requested O. to give up the poor's box, and the mortcloths, with a list of those for whom they had been used since 1714. On 29th Nov. 1726, at Edinburgh, he was consecrated a bishop of the Non-jurant Church, and had the diocese of Brechin assigned to him. He died at Dundee May 1742. He is described as "a man of piety and prudence, orthodox in his principles, and blameless in his life," but it has also been said "never perhaps was there a more credulous, nor more illiterate man advanced." He marr. Margaret, eldest daugh. of John Graham, merchant and bailie, Dundee, and had issue—Alexander, merchant, Montrose, went to Philadelphia.—[*Lawson's Hist. of Scot. Epis. FORFAR AND RESTENNET.

Forfar.—The church of Forfar was dedicated to St James. It belonged to the Abbey of Jedburgh. There were in the parish chapels of St Curadan and St Margaret. A point of land in the Loch of Forfar is called St Margaret's Inch. Two fairs held at Forfar bore the names of St James and St Ethernan. The interior of Forfar church was remodelled and improved at a cost of £7000 in 1898-9 by James Duncan of Coupar-Grange.

Restennet.—The church of Restennet was dedicated to St Peter. It belonged to the Abbey of Jedburgh. From a very early time Restennet was the seat of a Celtic monastery, which appears to have been founded in 710. In 1159 it was converted into the Augustinian Priory of St Peter. The fine, lofty tower, which still crowns the Priory ruins at Restennet, seems to be of great antiquity.]

GLAMIS.

[In early Christian times, St Fergus made Glamis the seat of a mission of the Celtic Church. St Donald also carried on mission work here. The church of Glamis was dedicated to St Fergus. It belonged to the Abbey of Arbroath. St Fergus' Cave in the parish has of old been used as a hermitage. There were here Wells of St Fergus, St Medan, and the Nine Maidens. In 1487, John, third Lord Glamis, founded in the Parish Church of Glamis an altar of St Thomas the Martyr. A fair of St Fergus was held at Glamis. A Celtic cross, preserved at the manse, belongs to the earliest period of Christian art in Scotland.]

[He managed to save £5000 though his stipend was only £70.] Though in his 92nd year, he preached on the Sunday fortnight before his death. His tombstone contains this epitaph:—

"Rests below this stone the mortal clay
Of Thomas Raiker, till that awful day
When Christ shall send his angel thro' the skies,
And to the dead proclaim, 'Ye sleepers, rise!'
Then may the Saviour to this servant say,
Enjoy a crown thro' an eternal day."

DUNDEE.

ST MARY'S.

[The fame of Dundee as a harbour and a place of trade goes back to early times. Its ancient parish church was dedicated to St Clement, the recognised patron of all such as go down to the sea in ships. A royal castle, built to guard the harbour, became, in the reign of William the Lion, the seat of the King's brother, David, Earl of Huntingdon. Earl David, though owning great possessions in England, had his chief residence at Dundee. Like his royal grandfather, David I., he was a notable builder of churches. Towards the end of the twelfth century, he reared, beside his Castle of Dundee, the great Church of St Mary, now the High Kirk of the city. This church the Earl bestowed upon the Abbey of Lindores, which he had himself founded. As early as 1210 Dundee was made a royal burgh. Its commercial eminence brought it much distress during the long English wars. From the troops of Edward I. the town suffered sorely, and St Mary's was laid in ruins. It was long before the church could be restored, and soon after that came the invasion organised by the Lord Protector Somerset, the regent for his nephew, Edward VI. An English garrison was then placed in Broughty Castle, and all Dundee was laid waste. Of its fine church the tower alone was left standing. That tower, however, had ever been its chief glory. In 1588 the choir and transepts were set up again, and so the church stood until 1641, when an accidental fire swept all away, except again the solid, ancient tower. The restoration of the devastated church was promptly begun, but, while the work was still in progress, on 4th April 1645 a fresh outbreak of fire destroyed the new building. It was only in 1789 that these disasters were repaired. Still another conflagration occurred on 3rd Jan. 1841, and burned down the transepts. A complete and costly restoration was carried out in 1843. It must be owned that the result fails somewhat in proportion. The choir and transepts lack the graceful dignity of the grand old tower. There were of old many altars in St Mary's. Among them were dedications to St Salvator, the Holy Blood, St Magdalene, St Michael, St Mark, St Andrew, St Paul, St Stephen, St Aubert, St Denys, St Blaise, St Agatha, St Erasmus, St Leonard, St Gregory, St George, St Martin, St Severinus, St Magnus, St Margaret, St Thomas the Martyr, St Tridwal, St Anthony, St Helen, and St Barbara. Dundee was not without monastic foundations. The Nuns of St Clara established a convent here in 1260. The Red Friars of the Holy Trinity made a settlement in 1283. The Black Friars came early, and the Grey Friars founded a priory in 1292. The havoc made in Dundee by the troops of the Lord Protector Somerset was great. Many notable buildings perished altogether. Of the ancient parish church of St Clement we know only that it was found to be beyond restoration. Therefore, when St Mary's was renewed in 1588, it was made the parish church of the town. The present church of St Clement belongs to a parish of modern origin. In the course of the seventeenth century the population of Dundee grew greatly. To afford spiritual and ecclesiastical oversight to the multiplying community was no easy task. The strife and civil wars of the time, with their heavy financial burdens, made it really hopeless. The Town Council of Dundee, like others, sought refuge in the poor expedient of increasing the number of clergy without adding to the parochial organisation, or even to the church buildings. In 1590 a Second Charge was founded for St Mary's. In 1609 a Third was added. On 23rd July 1788 the Court of Teinds sanctioned the setting up of Fourth and Fifth Charges for the parish. Thus St Mary's had five clergymen, each of whom was deemed minister of the parish. They conducted their services and duties by turns, and the great church was partitioned off into sections in which the various congregations met. One huge Kirk-Session, like a Parliament in its number, did its best to cope with the business arrangements of the parish. It speaks volumes for their Christian forbearance that they all got along peaceably and did their necessary work. A change was slow of coming, but it came in 1823. A sixth minister was then settled in Dundee, but not as a colleague with the five ministers of St Mary's. The new parish of St David was erected. In 1834 this overgrown parish was further reduced by the breaking up of its collegiate endowments. St Mary's became again an ordinary parish with one minister of its own, and the funds thus set free were used to found the new parishes of St Paul, St John, and St Clement. In old times there were several chapels in this large parish. Of these, the best known was perhaps St Roque's, outside the Cowgate Port of the town. There were also the Chapel of the Holy Rood at Kilcraig, St Mary's beside Our Lady's Well, St Nicholas' on the Ship Craig, west of the harbour, and in the town another Chapel of the Holy Rood, and those of St Salvator, St John, St Paul, St Michael, and St Anthony. Dundee had Wells of Our Lady, St Clement, and St Francis. Two fairs were held in honour of St Mary, one in Aug. on Our Lady Day in autumn, and the other in Sept. on Marymas Day in harvest. There are now mission chapels in the parish at Blackcroft and Drumgeith.]

FIRST CHARGE.

PAUL METHVEN, for his preaching
1558 publicly in the town, where the first reformed church in Scotland was formed in 1558, was summoned before the Queen Regent and Bishops, 2nd Feb. that year, but the summons was withdrawn. He was summoned a second time in Nov. following, and failing to appear, he was banished. His fellow-townsmen, one after another, gave him protection, even the Provost (James Halyburton of Pitcur) declining to apprehend him on the royal command. Summoned, with others, to appear before the Lord Justice at Stirling, 10th May 1559, and not appearing, he was denounced rebel. He was charged with "usurping the authority of the ministry of the Church, and administering the sacraments within the burghs of Dundee, Montrose, and elsewhere, in a manner far different from the divine and laudable use of the faithful Catholic Church." He was further charged "with persuading and seducing the lieges to his erroneous and seditious doctrines and heresies." He removed to Jedburgh in 1560.

WILLIAM CHRISTISON, app. by the 1560 Lords of the Congregation, etc., 19th July 1560, was a member of the first General Assembly 20th Dec. that year, and of sixty succeeding Assemblies he attended no fewer than thirty-eight, being Moderator of that of 6th July 1569; pres. to the vicarage by James VI. 17th Nov. 1569; had Ballumbie also in charge in 1574; was at Convention Jan. 1571; app. conjunct visitor by the Assembly, June 1578, of the higher parts of Mar, the Garioch, and Angus and Mearns. In 1579 his visitation was restricted to the latter county. In 1589 he was nominated by the Privy Council one of the Commissioners for defence of the True Religion in Angus, but as he was unable to discharge his duties through age, another was app.

to supply his place, 14th March 1597; died in 1603. He marr. Anna Wynton, who survived him.—[Scott's Reformers; Maxwell's Old Dundee, 129; Melvill's Autob., 38, 55, 302.]

ROBERT HOWIE, Principal of 1598 Marischal College, Aberdeen, and min. of Third Charge, Aberdeen; elected by the General Assembly 14th March 1597; adm. before 26th Sept. 1598; was a member of Assembly 1600, 1601, 1602, and 1606; declared by the Privy Council "nowyse to be capable of any office, function or charge within the said town," 23rd July 1605, for aiding and abetting a faction in opposing the election of magistrates. He afterwards had a charge in the Presb. of Strathbogie, and was Principal of St Mary's College, St Andrews (q.v.).

DAVID LINDSAY, M.A.; adm. before
1606 1606; consecrated Bishop of Brechin (q.v.) 23rd Nov. 1619, holding this parsonage till 1634.

PATRICK PANTER, M.A.; probably 1628 assistant or substitute to preceding; promoted to Professorship of Divinity in St Mary's College, St Andrews, 1627 (q.v.).

ANDREW COLLACE, M.A.; trans.
1635 from Ecclesgreig before 24th July 1635; dep. in 1639; was officiating at Wapping, London, in 1650; was allowed £2000 by Parliament from vacant stipends 30th May 1661, and adm. to Duns in 1663.

ANDREW AUCHENLECK, son of 1642 John A., min. of Largo; educated at Univ. of St Andrews; M.A. (1615); ord. to Largo in 1620; was a member of Assembly in 1638 and 1639; was nominated in 1641 to visit Arran and adjacent islands with Robert Blair next spring; trans. and adm. (after a plea between the Constable of Dundee and the Town regarding the patronage) in 1642; was app. by the Assembly, with two others, to visit Orkney and Shetland that year, and was a member of Commissions of Assemblies 1643, 1645, 1647, and 1648. He favoured the restoration of King Charles II. without any condition, and at the siege of the town,

1st Sept. 1651, was carried prisoner to London and detained there till the spring of 1653. He died April 1663, aged about 68. He marr. (1) 27th April 1619, Janet Lindsay of the parish of Kirkcaldy, and had issue—John, min. of Newburn; Alexander, min. of Dunbog; Andrew; William; David; Katherine (marr. JOHN WILLISON, born 1680, son of 1716 James W. of Craigforth, near Stirling, and Bethia Gourlay; educated at Univ. of Glasgow (where he is said to have graduated, but his name does not appear on any list); licen. by Presb. of Stirling 12th Nov. 1701; ord. to First Charge, Brechin, 3rd Dec. 1703 (in face of considerable opposition from the Jacobite or Episcopalian element). In 1705 he reported to the Presb. that with the connivance of the magistrates, John Skinner, the deprived min., had "repossessed himself of the afternoon diet," and that any attempt to prevent Skinner would be followed by riots by his supporters and the actual "rabbling" of the Presbyterian min. Energetic measures were taken by the Presb., and the matter is again and again referred to in the Register, till in 1708 the intruding min. was libelled and dep., a sentence which had to be enforced by warrant of the Court of Justiciary. On 20th June 1716 W. was called to this charge, and adm. 6th Sept. afterwards. He died 3rd May 1750. He took a prominent part in the life and work of the Church. He opposed the tenets of Glas of Tealing; sympathised with the Seceders, though not to the extent of joining with them, did everything in his power to prevent a schism, counselling conciliatory measures, and was overwhelmed with grief when all his efforts failed. A strong opponent of patronage, he was sent, in 1734, with two others, to London to petition Parliament for a repeal of the Act of Queen Anne which had restored patronage, and though unsuccessful, he received the thanks of the Assembly. In 1742 he visited Cambuslang to witness for himself the results of the Whitefield revival, and a sermon which he preached at Kilsyth on his return journey was followed by a similar movement there. During the "Forty-Five," soldiers from Prince Charlie's army twice entered his church and threatened to shoot him if he prayed for King George, and for a time the church was closed and services were held in private houses. He was an eminently pious and devoted min., rigidly evangelical, and while a keen controversialist, it was said "there was no asperity in what he said or wrote." He was specially noted for his diligence in catechising, and for his care of the sick. His Afflicted Man's Companion was one of the most widely read books of its time, and has been frequently reprinted. He left £66, 13s. 4d. to the poor. He marr. 4th Dec. 1704, Margaret (died March 1758), eldest daugh. of William Arrott, min. of Montrose, and had issue—Andrew, physician, Dundee; David, printer and publisher, Edinburgh, born 1715, died 1748, father of George W., an eminent portrait painter; Margaret, bapt. 22nd Nov. 1716; Samuel; Bethia, born 1720 (marr. William Bell, min. of Arbroath). CHAPELSHADE (Q.S.).

[A chapel in connection with the Synod of Relief was built in Dudhope Crescent Road in 1789. Its congregation was admitted into the Church of Scotland 7th Dec. 1791. The church was retained by the Free Church in 1843, but possession was regained in 1847. On 18th March 1872 the parish of Chapelshade was disjoined from St Mary's, Dundee.]

 1791 Feb. 1749; licen. by Presb. of Relief and ord. to Gillespie congregation, Dunfermline, in 1777 (in succession to Thomas Gillespie); adm. by said Presb.
 to this chapel 27th May 1790; was dep.
 by it owing to a dispute between him and the Relief body chiefly on doctrinal questions. He and his congregation, feeling aggrieved by this sentence, applied for admission to the Church of Scotland and were received by the Presb. of Dundee 7th Sept.

 1791; died 25th Sept. 1810. He marr.,

He published a volume of an extraordinary nature entitled Charles and Alectum, purporting to be an account of his life and experiences. Among other matters he inveighs bitterly against the magistrates of Dundee, particularly Provost John Pitcairn, "for their unchristian usage of him, severely reproaching the Provost for sending a whole company of soldiers to annoy him by exercising them in his dining-room in South Tay Street." It is said that the last time he preached, a black cat walked several times before him round the pulpit. This he considered to be the Devil come to put an end to his usefulness, as it put an unceremonious end to his sermon.—[Thomson's Hist. of Dundee, 215.]

ST PETER'S.

[Detached from St John's parish and opened as a chapel-of-ease in 1836. Retained by the Free Church in 1843.]

ROBERT MURRAY M'CHEYNE, 1838 born at Edinburgh 21st May 1813, youngest son of Adam M., W.S., and Lockhart Murray, daugh. of David Dickson of Locherwoods, Dumfriesshire; educated at High School and Univ. of Edinburgh; licen. by Presb. of Annan 1st July 1835; assistant at Larbert and Dunipace; elected in Aug., and ord. 24th Nov. 1836. Never robust, he suffered a serious breakdown in health in 1838 and was obliged to give up his pastoral duties. He went to Edinburgh to rest and recuperate. During his absence his pulpit was supplied by William Chalmers Burns, afterwards the celebrated missionary to China. In 1839 he was one of a Deputation appointed by the Committee of the General Assembly on the Conversion of the Jews, to visit Palestine to consider the expediency of beginning a Jewish mission there. M. was away from 12th April to 6th Nov. 1839. On his return he resumed his work at Dundee with renewed energy, and devoted himself to evangelistic missions in England and Scotland. He preached to his own people on 12th March, and two days afterwards was seized with typhus fever, which he had contracted in the course of visitation, and died 25th March 1843. He was buried beside his own church, where an imposing monument marks his grave. He was unmarr. Perhaps no min. in the Church of Scotland is better remembered for the saintliness of his character, the anxious devotion which influenced the whole of his short ministry, and the success which everywhere accompanied his efforts as a preacher of the Gospel. He was a diligent Bible student and a good classical scholar. He learned to read Greek when he was but a boy, and he could carry on a conversation in Hebrew. He had fine poetical, artistic, and musical gifts. He trained his congregation in psalmody, and his hymns are the property of all the Churches. 1703 app. by the Presb. jure devoluto 24th Feb., and ord. 29th July 1703; trans. to Forfar 21st March 1717.

JOHN GLAS, born Auchtermuchty, 1719 21st Sept. (bapt. 5th Oct.) 1695, only son of Alexander G., min. of Auchtermuchty, afterwards of Kinclaven (descended from the family of Glas of Sauchie); educated at Parish School of Kinclaven and Univs. of St Andrews, M.A. (6th May 1713), and Edinburgh; licen. by Presb. of Dunkeld 20th May 1718; called 19th Feb., and app. by the Presb. jure devoluto 4th March, and ord. 6th May 1719. He became very popular as a preacher. On 13th July 1725 he formed a society of nearly a hundred persons within the parish for a monthly celebration of the Communion. He further adopted views in regard to the National Covenants, the relation of the Church to the State, and the right of the latter to interfere in matters of religion, which brought him into conflict with the Church Courts. Having renounced certain passages of the Confession of Faith and withdrawn his signature from the Formula, he was suspended by the Synod of Angus and Mearns, 18th April 1728, which sentence was confirmed by the General Assembly in May of that year. Heedless of this sentence and continuing to exercise ministerial functions, he was dep. by the Synod 15th Oct. thereafter, the Commission of Assembly affirming the same, 12th March 1730, notwithstanding strong appeals in his favour, notably by Duncan Forbes of Culloden, then Lord Advocate. G. now removed to Dundee, where he set up a church according to his views, whose members became known as Glassites. In 1733 he went to Perth, where he formed a church in face of much opposition, steps being taken to eject him from the city. At Perth he was joined by Robert Sandeman (1718-71), a youth of twenty, who became his son-in-law, and from whom the sect is known in England and in America (to which it spread, largely through Sandeman's labours there). In 1738 George Byres, min. of St Boswells, dem. his charge and ministered to a small body of Glassites at Kippilaw, parish of Bowden. On 22nd May 1739, the General Assembly on its own initiative reponed G. to the office of the Christian ministry, but declined to recognise him as a min. of the Church until he should renounce the principles embraced by him and inconsistent with the constitution of the Church. He latterly returned to Dundee, where he died 2nd Nov. 1773. He marr. 1721, Katherine (died Dec. 1749), eldest daugh. of Thomas Black, min. of Perth, and had issue—Captain George (sometimes called John), born 1725, bred a sailor, made several voyages to the West Coast of Africa and the Canary Islands, and after an adventurous life was murdered by mutineers off the south coast of Ireland in 1765, his wife and daugh. being thrown overboard and drowned. The murderers were discovered and executed. Captain Glas was translator of Galindo's History of the Discovery and Conquest of the Canary Islands (London, 1764) [also in Pinkerton's Collection of Voyages and Travels, vol. xvi., 808]. He wrote A Description of Teneriffe; Thomas, bookseller, Dundee, and pastor of the Glassite Congregation there, died of fever in the prime of life; Alexander, author of The River Tay: a Fragment, and other poems, and Glassite hymns, died young; Katherine (marr. Robert Sandeman, founder of the Sandemanians, and author of Letters in Criticism of Hervey's "Theron and Aspasio," 2 vols., 1757), died 1746; and eleven others, all of whom predeceased their parents. Publications—The Testimony of the King of Martyrs concerning his Kingdom (Edinburgh, 1727, 1728, 1729, 1739, 1747) [Preface by Robert Ferrier, min. of Largo, who joined the Glassite sect in 1768], 1776, 1777, 1813; A Narrative of the Rise and Progress of the Controversy about the National Covenants (Edinburgh, 1728; Dundee, 1828); An Explication of that Proposition contained in Mr Glas's Answers to the Synod's Queries (Edinburgh, 1728); see also *The Humble Thoughts of some Sober and Judicious Christians concerning the Affair of the Rev. PRESBYTERY OF BRECHIN

[The Register of the Presbytery of Brechin begins at 9th May 1639. There is no Record between April 1644 and 1st May 1645, the following note being inserted under the latter date: "The cause for the year's want, viz., from April 1644 to May 1645, is be reason of the truebles, Brechin being plundered by the commounne ennimie, this Presbyterie book was taken away by the rebells togedder with the scroll containing the proceedings of the presbyterie from April 1644 till the first day of May 1645." The scrolls perished but the book was recovered. The three earliest volumes were given back to the Presbytery in Feb. 1788 by Sir John Wedderburn of Ballindean, Bart. There are gaps in the Record from 11th April 1661 to 5th Aug. 1662, and from 5th June 1688 to 1st Dec. 1698. From 1688 to 1698 the Presbyteries of Dundee and Brechin were united.]

BRECHIN AND KELIMORE.

[These parishes were united in the sixteenth century.]

Brechin.—In early times Brechin was the seat of a great Celtic Abbey. Somewhere about 1150 David I. appropriated its endowments, and founded with them the See of Brechin. The old dedication to the Holy Trinity was retained for both the parish church and the cathedral. Soon after the Reformation the cathedral was made the church of the parish. In 1631 a Second Charge was founded for the parish. In its two western towers, both fine, though utterly unlike, the church possesses a feature all its own. The Round Tower, 103 feet high, is a fabric of the greatest interest. In its origin it was a watch tower and place of strength belonging to the Celtic monastery. Its age is very uncertain, but it was not likely less than 200 years old when the cathedral was built beside it. It was, in its early times, a structure standing by itself, not an adjunct of a larger edifice. The altars in the cathedral of Brechin included dedications to the Holy Trinity, the Holy Rood, St Ninian, St Christopher, St Katherine, St

Thomas the Martyr, St Magdalene, St Duthac, St George, St Laurence, St Sebastian, and St Nicholas. After the Reformation the church fell into ruin, and in 1807 the aisles were taken down and rebuilt in the taste of the day. In 1900 a complete restoration was begun, and the church was opened for public worship 23rd April 1902. In 1267 there was built in Brechin the hospital or Maison Dieu of St Mary. There is not a little architectural interest about the part of it which still stands in ruin. There were in the parish chapels of St Michael and St Magdalene, and another chapel at Arrat. A fair was held at Brechin on Trinity Sunday.

Kelimore.—The church of Kelimore, or Kilmoir, was dedicated to St Mary. This parish was a prebend of Brechin.]

FIRST CHARGE.

JOHN HEPBURN, one of those 1562 "thought apt and able to minister"
by the first General Assembly 20th Dec. 1560; was treasurer of Brechin in 1561, and was app. to go to preach in Moray 29th Dec. 1562. A more extended commission was given him on 29th June

1563. This he was unable to fulfil on account of sickness, and it was renewed 31st Dec. 1567, Panbride being then also in the charge. In 1574 Panbride was excluded, and Farnell, Auldbar, Kelimore, Buttergill, and Cuikistoun included. In 1587 Farnell and Auldbar were excluded. He was a member of Assembly, and was still min. in 1601.—[Comp. of the Collectorie of Thirds, crop 1561, f. 95; Calderwood's Hist. ii. 46, 224, 245, iii. 465, iv. 396, 549; *Reg. Epis. DUN AND ECCLESJOHN.

[These parishes were united 2nd May 1583.

Dun.—The vicarage of Dun belonged to the Priory of Elcho. Its church was dedicated to the Virgin Mary.

Ecclesjohn.—The parsonage of Ecclesjohn formed a prebend of Brechin.]

JAMES ERSKINE, had a gift of the Archdeanery of Aberdeen, with the 1567 kirk of Rayne and the mansion and lodging in Old Aberdeen for his lifetime, 15th April 1565. He was pres. to the parsonage by James VI. 21st, coll. (by the Superintendent) 29th Sept. 1570, and inst. soon afterwards. In 1574 Ecclesjohn was in his charge; died before 24th March that year.

[THOMAS ERSKINE, fifth son of Sir John E. of Dun, Superintendent of Angus and Mearns; pres. to the parsonage and vicarage by James VI. 24th March 1574, but does not appear to have been settled.]

SIR JOHN ERSKINE of Dun, born 1509, son of Sir John E., younger 1575 of Dun (descended from a branch of the Erskines of Erskine) who fell at Flodden along with his father, and Margaret, daugh. of Sir William, first Lord Ruthven, and widow of Alexander, Earl of Buchan. He was educated at King's College, Aberdeen, and on the Continent, to which he went in his twelfth year, urged to go thither, it is said, from having accidentally caused the death of a priest, Sir John Forster, in the bell tower of Montrose. From France he brought to Scotland a scholar, Petrus de Masilliers, who opened a school for classical studies at Montrose (of which town E. was hereditary Provost), and was the first to teach Greek in Scotland—a step which not inconsiderably hastened the Reformation. From Masilliers both Andrew Melville and George Wishart had their introduction to the Greek language. E. early espoused the Reformed Faith and became the friend and disciple of John Knox, who spoke of him as being "miraculously illuminated." In 1555, after Knox's first arrival from Geneva, he visited E. at Dun, where he remained for a month, preaching and making many converts to Protestantism. E. was the fourth to sign the first bond of the Scottish Reformers, 3rd Dec. 1557, inviting Knox to return from Geneva. On 14th Dec. he was app. one of the commissioners to witness Queen Mary's marriage with the Dauphin. Upon his return he identified himself more publicly with the Reforming Party, and on 10th May 1559, at Stirling, he attended as intermediary between the Queen Dowager and the preachers who had refused to attend Mass. He signed the Act of 23rd Oct. 1559, deposing her from the Regency. In July 1560, though a layman, he was elected Superintendent of Angus and Mearns, was a member of the first General Assembly 20th Dec. following, and was one of those thought apt and able to minister. He was ord. to the ministry in 1561. He attended forty-four out of fifty-six General Assemblies, and was Moderator of those of 25th Dec. 1564, 25th Dec. 1565, 25th June 1566, 25th Dec. 1566, and 6th Aug. 1572. He was one of the framers of the Second Book of Discipline, and was pres. to this parish by James VI. on 11th Aug., and coll. by the Superintendent of Fife 20th Aug. 1575; dem. before 20th May 1583, and offered also to resign his office of Superintendent, but continued after the others had died or given up their work; died 12th March 1589, having been second only to Knox in promoting and accomplishing the work of Reformation. He marr. (assistant and successor) 17th May 1764; D.D. (College of New Jersey, Nov. 1783). During the American War he espoused the Colonial cause in such a way as to make his position at home uncomfortable. Because he absented himself for some time and visited America, the Presb. resolved, 3rd Aug. 1785, that if he did not return, or if they had not notice of his being on the way to Britain, they would declare the charge vacant 5th Oct. that year. This was done. He was elected President of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, 1786; died 18th Jan. 1804. He left his library to Princeton College, New Jersey. His course of theological lectures was the first of the kind to be delivered in America; he lectured also on classics and philosophy, in which subjects he was a considerable proficient. He marr. 18th June 1766, Anne (bapt. 11th Jan. 1735, died 12th May 1807), daugh. of Thomas Tweedie of Quarter and Kingledores, Peeblesshire, and Mary Stevenson, and had issue—Thomas, born 8th April 1767; Mary, born 2nd April 1769; William, born 1st Feb. 1771; Alison, born 28th May 1773; Ann (twin), born 28th May 1773; Elizabeth, born 2nd March 1775; Alexander, judge at Baltimore, born 26th July 1777; Charles, born 18th Aug. 1780. ALEXANDER MOLLISON, M.A.; pres. by Town Council 4th Dec. 1776 1775; ord. 8th Feb. 1776; trans. to First Charge 17th Nov. 1785.

JAMES MITCHELL, born 1763; educated at Univ. of Edinburgh; licen. by Presb. of Edinburgh 30th July 1783; became chaplain to Willielma, Lady Glenorchy; ord. 22nd June 1784 to Presbyterian congregation at South Shields; pres. by Town Council in May, and adm. 22nd June 1786. On account of certain local difficulties, chiefly "because he could not persuade the mariners of the guilt of setting sail of a Sabbath," he dem. 13th Feb. 1805. He accepted charge of the Scots congregation at Wooler, and died there 20th Oct. 1835. His classical attainments were of a high order. Whilst a divinity student he was tutor to Sir Walter Scott, who thus writes of him in his Autobiographical fragment: "He was a young man of excellent disposition and a laborious student. From him I learned writing and arithmetic. I repeated to him my French lessons, and studied with him my themes in the classics. I also acquired by disputing with him (for this he readily permitted) some knowledge of school-divinity and church history, and a great acquaintance in particular with the old books describing the early history of the Church of Scotland, the wars and sufferings of the Covenanters, and so forth. I, with a head on fire for chivalry, was a Cavalier, my friend was a Roundhead; I was a Tory, and he was a Whig. I hated Presbyterians, and admired Montrose with his victorious Highlanders; he liked the Presbyterian Ulysses, the dark and politic Argyle, so that we never wanted subjects of dispute; but our disputes were always amicable." In 1796 Scott paid him a visit at Montrose and spent the night. "Few visits have been more gratifying," says M. "Impressed with the conviction that he would one day arrive at honour and influence in his native country, I endeavoured to improve the occasion to secure his patronage in behalf of the strict and evangelical party in the Church of Scotland, in exerting himself to induce patrons to grant to the Christian people liberty to elect their own pastors in cases of vacancy. His answer struck me much, it was: 'Nay, nay, Mr Mitchell, I'll not do that, for if that were to be done, I and the like of me would have no life with such as you,' from which I inferred he thought that, were the evangelical clergy to obtain the superiority, they would introduce such strictness of discipline as would not quadrate with the ideas of that party called the moderate in the Church of Scotland, whose views, I presume, Sir Walter had now adopted." M. left in MS. "Memorials of the most remarkable occurrences and transactions of my life," one chapter of which was devoted to his association with Scott and the Scott family, and was used by Lockhart in the Life. He marr. 23rd May 1791, Jean (died 1848), daugh. of Alexander Mollison, min. of the First Charge, and had issue—James, born 15th Oct. 1792; Alexander, indigo-planter, Tirhoot, born 8th Dec. 1797; Jean, born 5th April 1802. —[Lockhart's Scott (Edinburgh Edition), i., 31, 113-24, 275.]

(Aberdeen, March 1821); died 24th April 1871. In 1858 he was presented at a banquet with his portrait, subscribed for by people of all denominations. In making his reply he struck a fine note when he said, with tenderness, "Since I came to Montrose a new generation has arisen, but it cannot be said that they 'knew not Joseph.'" He marr. 6th June 1814, Janet (died 14th Sept. 1854, aged 73), daugh. of Robert Hunter, Dundee, and had issue—Jane Scott, born 14th April 1815; Elizabeth Crawford, born 5th Sept. 1816, died 19th July 1845; Robert, student of medicine, born 29th Dec. 1817, died 6th Nov.

PRESBYTERY OF ARBROATH

[The earliest mention of this Court shows that it was already at work in 1593. On 20th Sept. 1664, a volume of the Presbytery Register, covering the time from 1606 to 1639, was put into the hands of John Johnstone, Minister of Barry, to be conveyed by him to Andrew, Bishop of Orkney, who was then at St Andrews. Of it nothing further is known. Two, or it may be three, other volumes, containing the record from 1639 to 1661, are mentioned in a Minute of 18th Nov. 1662, but these also are amissing. The existing Records begin at 3rd Nov. 1659. The first volume opens at 3rd Nov. 1659 and ends at 4th Sept. 1689. From this last date until 1704 this Court was united to the Presbytery of Dundee. From 17th May 1704, the Records of the Presbytery of Arbroath are complete.]

ARBIRLOT.

[The church of Arbirlot was dedicated to St Ninian. It belonged to the Abbey of Arbroath. The early name of the parish was Aberelliot. There was within the bounds a Well of St Ninian. With the exception of that of St Mary's College, St Andrews, the silver Communion cups of this parish bear the oldest Scottish marks of any cups in Scotland.]

CHARLES MICHELSON, min. in 1567, 1567 having Inverkeilor also in his charge,
and in 1574, instead of Inverkeilor, Panbride and Monikie with Barry conjoined
in 1576; pres. to the vicarage before 7th July 1569. In 1584 he removed to Barry but returned here before 1590; died before 5th Dec. 1592. — [Reg. Assig.; Acts and Dec., xlii., 510.]

GEORGE GLEDSTANES, M.A.; trans.
1592 from Ecclesgreig (St Cyrus); pres. to the vicarage by James VI. May 1592; trans. to St Andrews in 1597.

DAVID BLACK, educated at Univ. of 1597 St Andrews; adm. (on the recommendation of Andrew Melville) min.
of St Andrews Nov. 1590. Having offended James VI. by "certain unreverent, reproach-full and infamous speeches in his sermons," he was summoned before the Privy Council 18th Nov. 1596, but declined its jurisdiction "in matters spiritual." In this he was supported by "his whole brethren of the ministrie." Twelve days later he lodged a second declinature, but was found guilty on 2nd Dec., and "the penaltie referred to the King's will and pleasure." On 9th Dec. he was ordered to enter his person in ward. The Synod of Fife petitioned the King to restore B. to his charge, but that was not done, and he was trans. and adm. here in 1597; pres. to the vicarage by James VI. 15th May 1598. While on his way to Perth he died suddenly at Dundee, of apoplexy, immediately after having given thanks at a meal, Tuesday 12th Jan. 1603. He had preached and dispensed the Communion on the preceding Sunday. He is characterised as a man of singular fidelity and diligence, mighty in doctrine, a powerful preacher, a zealous, faithful, and painstaking pastor, whose ministry was productive of much fruit. He was strongly opposed to Episcopacy. He marr. Katherine Prattie, who survived him, and had issue—Sarah, who with her mother was recommended to charity by the Synod of Lothian and Tweeddale 4th Nov. 1659. — [Reg. Assig.; Calderwood's Hist., v. 680 et seq., vi. 184, ARBROATH.

[The parish of Arbroath was disjoined from St Vigeans in or about 1585. The Tyronensian Abbey of St Thomas the Martyr at Arbroath was built by William the Lion. When a prisoner in England, King William had known St Thomas personally. Thomas A'Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury, was murdered in his own cathedral in 1170. He was canonised in 1173, and in 1178 this great monastery was consecrated to his name. In 1214 its royal founder was buried within its walls. The abbey was famed for its vast wealth, and for the size and dignity of its buildings. But a higher renown in history is drawn from the Convention of the Estates of Scotland held within it in 1320, when the noble declaration and protest for the nation's freedom was signed and sent off to Pope John XXII., who had allied his spiritual powers with the treacherous policy of the English king. Even in its ruin the abbey of Arbroath is splendid. Among the altars in it were dedications to St Mary, St James, St Katherine, St Peter, St Laurence, and St Nicholas. Close beside the abbey was a chapel of St Michael. In the town there were a hospital of St John the Baptist and a chapel of St Mary, which contained an altar of St Duthac. There were also Wells of St Mary and St Ninian. Fairs were held at Arbroath in honour of St Ninian, St Feachan, and St Thomas the Martyr.]

JOHN FERGUSON, adm. to Roberton in Teviotdale 23rd Sept. 1699 1696 (omitted in Vol. II., 190); trans. and adm. 20th April 1699. As an indemnification for his losses in the Darien Expedition, he got the gift of a house and a piece of ground from the Exchequer; died May 1737, aged about 82. His eccentricity of manner and freedom of speech, even in the pulpit, and his homely, personal illustrations sometimes gave great offence. He raised an action against the magistrates for payment of eighty merks as house rent, for which the Lords of Session, 22nd Jan. 1715, found them liable in all time coming. He had a gift from William III., 9th May 1701, of the yard or orchard in the abbey which belonged formerly to the Bishop of Brechin, in room of his glebe at Roberton. He marr. (at Inverkeilor) 11th Dec. 1788; died 19th Jan. 1835. Objection was taken to his settlement on the ground that none had signed his call. On the instructions of the Synod the Presb. proceeded to ordination, but the Assembly, 29th May 1789, found that though the Presb. "have acted irregularly and are subject to censure, yet the ordination and settlement of G. are good and valid." The Presb. were required to appear at the bar of next Assembly to answer for their conduct, and on 25th May 1790, their proceedings were found to be "highly irregular and incompetent, in respect that they proceeded to take steps towards the settlement, without having any call before them, and afterwards proceeded to the settlement in face of an appeal regularly taken against the sentence of Synod," and they were admonished and enjoined "to be careful to guard against such irregularities in future." He marr. 10th March 1786, Mary (died 19th Jan. 1836), daugh. of Alexander Duncan of Wardham, Forfarshire, and sister of Jonathan D., Governor of Bombay, and had issue—Jean, born 13th Jan. 1787, died 11th Dec. 1821; Helen, born 18th July 1788; Mary, born 6th April 1790 (marr. PATRICK BELL, born Mid-Leoch, Auchterhouse, 1801, son of George 1843 B., farmer; educated at Auchterhouse School and Univ. of St Andrews; became tutor to Charles Baillie, afterwards Lord Jerviswood, Senator of the College of Justice, and resided in Canada, 1833-7, as tutor to the family of a Scottish settler; resumed teaching on his return to Scotland; pres. by Queen Victoria 15th Sept., and ord. 14th Dec. 1843; LL.D. (St Andrews 1868); died 22nd April 1869. His ruling passion was mechanics, and even as a boy he devised a number of labour-saving appliances. His chief invention was the reaping-machine, of which he constructed a model in 1827. In the year following a test was made with a larger machine on his brother's farm of Inchmichael, and at a competition in 1852 on the farm of Keillor, in which a number of rival American machines were in operation, that of B. was pronounced by judges selected from Scotland, England, and Ireland, as "the best and most effective reaping-machine that has yet been submitted to our notice. It is superior in every respect, both in principle and practice, to any of its rivals, which are only humble and defective imitations of the original." In 1867, at the Dundee meeting of the British Association, Dr Bell gave a full account of his invention, and in 1868 his machine was purchased for the museum of the Patent Office, where it now is. Under the auspices of the Highland and Agricultural Society he was presented with a silver salver and the sum of £1000, in "appreciation of his pre-eminent services as the inventor of an efficient reaping-machine constructed in 1827." Nov. 1747; trans. and adm. 10th March 1748; died 12th Nov. 1753. He marr. 21st Nov. 1738, Isobel Wallace, who died 26th Aug. 1751, and had issue—John, born 3rd Nov. 1739; George, born 1st June 1741; Robert, born 21st April 1743, went to Montreal; William, born 16th Sept. 1745, died 27th June 1746; Henry, born 10th April 1748, died 9th Nov. 1752; William, born 2nd March 1750, went to Jamaica, died at Arbroath 15th Sept. 1817; Isobel, born 26th Aug. 1751 (marr. — Haldane, stocking manufacturer, Haddington). An interesting story is related of the minister's domestic servant, Margaret Matthew, who, after his death, removed with his orphan children to an attic in the Marketgate of Arbroath, where she attended to their needs, often at great self-denial on her part, and brought them up so well, that much attention was drawn to her case, which has been finely told in the Mystifications by Miss Graham-Stirling of Duntrune. GEORGE WALKER, bapt. 6th Jan.

1813 1783, son of Arthur W. of Pitblado, Fife, farmer, and Agnes Millar;
 educated at Univ. of St Andrews; licen.
 by Presb. of Cupar 25th March 1806; tutor
 in the family of Taylor of Kirktonhill, Mearns; pres. by George, Prince Regent,
 19th May, and ord. 23rd Sept. 1813; D.D.
 (Edinburgh, 24th April 1867); died FATHER OF THE SYNOD 11th Sept. 1868. He and his predecessor were incumbents for 114 years. He was unmarr. He represented the best traditions—intellectual, philanthropic, and spiritual—of the ministry of the Scottish Church. He was an eminent classical scholar, and had in contemplation an exhaustive History of the Church in Scotland, for which he made elaborate and original researches. He was much interested in educational matters, and he saw to it that due provision was made of the higher instruction that would carry a promising boy to the threshold of a Scottish Univ.
 He was an assiduous helper of the poor,
 fervently evangelical in his mode of preaching, singularly devout in his own life, and much given to private prayer. He contributed liberally towards the endowment of new parishes both in his own and other Presbs. "Even if the name of George Walker were no more than a fading memory in an obscure parish, it might be taken as certain that the seeds which he sowed will continue to bear fruit for generations in Scottish characters and lives." The

Walker Trust of the Univ. of St Andrews was founded in his memory. Publications

LUNAN, OF OLD INVERLUNAN.

[The church of Inverlunan appears to have been dedicated to St Lunan, or Lonan, who is commemorated at Kirklonan in the Isle of Man, and elsewhere.
 This church belonged to the Abbey of Arbroath. Walter Miln, the priest of In-verlunan, who had been incumbent of this parish for over forty years, was burned as a heretic in 1558. A monument to his memory is in the church.]

JOHN BATY [or BEATTIE], reader

PANBRIDE.

[The church of this parish was dedicated to St Bride. It belonged to the Abbey of Arbroath. There were two chapels within the bounds, that of St Laurence at Both, and another dedicated to St Marnoch. This parish got its name from a Well of St Bride. The old Celtic word Pan has passed into English, as has also the kindred word Can, which appears in various European languages. In Welsh Pan means a bowl or a cup. In Scottish place-names it describes the more or less round opening from which a spring wells up. Hence it means a Well. When compounded, Pan is apt to become Ban. We find such names as Panbride=St Bride's Well, Panmure=St Mary's Well, Pan an Fhithich=the Raven's Well, Bangour=the Goat's Well, and others. There is now a mission chapel of St Bride in this parish at Carnoustie.]

JOHN BURN, licen. by Presb. of Edinburgh 29th May 1728; pres. by 1731 George II. 30th Nov. 1730; called 19th March and ord. 14th May 1731; died, perhaps unmarr., 4th May 1734, "having faithfully and to the great satisfaction of almost all the parishioners discharged his ministerial office."

JOHN HENDERSON, called by the Presb. jure devoluto 13th May and 1734 ord. to Aberlemno 15th June 1709. As noticed under that parish, John Ochterlony, the preceding incumbent, opened a meeting-house there which practically all the parishioners attended, while, as the Register says, H. "had nobody to hear him"; trans. and adm. to Kirkden 4th July 1711; in 1718, in the course of an argument on the merits of Episcopacy and Presbyterianism, H. was struck with fist and cane by Ensign Bever, who was convicted before the Court of Justiciary with the escheat of his movables; pres. by George II. 16th Aug.; trans. and adm. 19th Dec. 1734; died 16th July 1753. He marr. 19th Dec. 1710, Anne Melville, who died 29th Sept. 1775, and had issue—Margaret, died before 1753; Elizabeth; Robert; James; Jean; Alexander (all over 16 at 5th March 1746); Katherine, born 23rd April 1731; Amelia, born 28th Dec. 1732, died 12th Aug. 1749; Williamina, born 4th Nov. 1734.—[*Hume's Crim. JOHN AITKIN, born 1726; app. schoolmaster of Arbroath 14th April 1748; 1754 licen. by Presb. of Arbroath 8th Nov. 1752; pres. by George II. 19th Nov. 1753; ord. 16th May 1754; died FATHER OF THE CHURCH 2nd May 1816. He was unmarr. Soon after A.'s settlement the Presb., at his request, assessed the heritors of the parish for certain repairs to the kirk, when the majority of them refused, alleging an agreement entered into between them and some of the minister's friends who had obliged themselves to repair the kirk, manse, and offices if A. should be app., though he himself was perfectly innocent of any compact. The matter came before the Assembly in 1755, and again in 1756, whereupon a committee was app. to prepare an Overture, which ultimately led to an Act against Simoniackal Practices, 30th May 1759. This Act in an amended form [Act 1888, xvii.] is required [Act 1903, viii.] to be read by all candidates for licence, and any person elected to a vacant charge must state to the Presb. that such Act is known to him, and that he has done nothing at variance with it. When advanced in life, and troubled with deafness, A. consulted a well-known physician in Edinburgh, who would not accept of a fee offered, on the ground that it was not his custom to charge country ministers, as they could not afford it. "But," said A., "I can, I have no family." "Why," said the medical man, "did you not tell me that at first? Then you will be a bachelor? Destroy the prescripton I gave, go home and get married as fast as you can, and be assured, ere long time elapse, you will hear on the deafest side of your head." His grand-niece, Miss Mudie of Arbikie, placed a memorial window to him in the church. Publication—Account of the Parish (Sinclair's Stat. Acc., xii.).—[Mair's Digest, 533-5; Scots Mag., xvii., xviii., lxxviii.]

JOHN MUIR, born West Calder, 1779, son of John M., farmer, and Elizabeth Graham; educated at Univ. of Edinburgh; tutor at Benholme Castle; licen. by Presb. of Fordoun 1st July 1807; ord. to Fettercairn 27th Dec. 1814; pres. by George, Prince Regent, 24th July, trans. and adm. 24th Sept. 1816; died 28th Nov. 1865. He had a considerable knowledge of scientific subjects, and was a skilled meteorologist. From him Alexander Brown, LL.D., the Arbroath astronomer, received much help and inspiration. PRESBYTERY OF FORDOUN

[The Register of this Presbytery begins at 12th Nov. 1662. The earliest volume, which had long been in the possession of the Viscounts of Arbuthnott at Arbuthnott House, was recovered in 1892. It covers the time from 12th Nov. 1662 to 6th June 1685. There is a gap in the Record from 5th Sept. 1685 to 11th April 1689. From 5th Sept. 1688 to 17th Sept. 1698 this Presbytery was united to that of Dundee, which was then styled the United Presbytery of Angus and Mearns. From 17th Sept. 1698 to 10th Sept. 1700 the Presbytery of Fordoun formed part of the United Presbytery of Brechin, Fordoun, and Arbroath. Two volumes of the Register, earlier than any of those mentioned, contained the Minutes from 1624 to 1660. They were extant on 15th Nov. 1662, but no trace of them can now be found.]

ARBUTHNOTT.

[The church of Arbuthnott was dedicated to St Ternan and consecrated by Bishop David de Bernham on 3rd Aug. 1242. It belonged to the collegiate church of St Mary on the Kirk Heugh at St Andrews. The church is a fine, picturesque building about ninety feet long. On the south side it has a stately Lady Chapel. A psalter, known as the Arbuthnott Missal, a large folio, written and illuminated 1491-2 by Sir James Sibbald, chaplain here, who died in 1507, was gifted to this parish in 1506 by Sir Robert Arbuthnott of that ilk. There is a mission chapel within the bounds at Fiddes.]

ALEXANDER ARBUTHNOT, born 1569 1538, Principal of the Univ. and King's College of Aberdeen; pres. by James VI. 25th July 1569, only two days after being presented to the Principalship (q.v.); he must therefore for a time have held both offices in conjunction.

ALEXANDER KEITH, had charge of 1574 Arbuthnott, Bervie, Garvock, and Kinneff in 1574.

DUNNOTTAR.

[The church of Dunnottar belonged to the Priory of St Andrews. The ancient church stood near Dunnottar Castle. It was dedicated to St Ninian. Near its site are St Ninian's Dean and St Ninian's Well. The later church of St Bride, on the present site, was a rebuilding of an early chapel of St Bride. Within this parish, at Stonehaven, there is now a mission chapel of St Bride.]

adopted Antinomian doctrines, which, together with his eloquent appearance in the pulpit, gained him considerable popularity. The Presb. drew up a libel against him, and refused a certificate of character. An appeal to the General Assembly was dismissed 24th May 1773. B. thereupon formed a new sect called the Bereans (Acts xvii., 17), and sometimes after himself, Barclayans or Barclayites. He was followed by the larger proportion of the parishioners of Fettercairn, and a place of worship was erected at Sauchieburn, just outside the confines of the parish in which no site was attainable. B. was called as min. but preferred to settle in Edinburgh, where a congregation of the sect had also been set up, and his ordination thereto took place at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, 12th Oct. 1773. Other charges were formed throughout Scotland and England, and in London B. carried on his propaganda for about two years. He died suddenly of apoplexy in Edinburgh (whilst kneeling at prayer in the house of a friend) 29th July 1798, and was buried in the Old Calton graveyard where a monument was erected. He was unmarr. FETTERESSO.

[The old church of Fetteresso was dedicated to St Carran. It is a picturesque building, over eighty feet long, and is roof-less. It belonged to the collegiate church of the Kirk Heugh at St Andrews. Within the bounds is the ruined chapel of St Nachlan at Cowie, a building about seventy feet in length. There was also another chapel at Raedykes. The parish contained Wells of St Nachlan and St Ranald.
 A fair of St Nachlan was held at Fetteresso. There is now, within the bounds, at Stonehaven, a mission chapel of St John.]

JOHN CHRISTISON, probably the 1560 friar who failed to appear, and was outlawed at Stirling, 10th May 1559, for usurping of the Kirk and taking the ministry at his own hands; min. here in 1560, with Dunnottar and Glenbervie also in his charge; removed to Glenbervie before 28th Sept. 1570.

[PETER BROWN held the parsonage,
 but it is doubtful if he was a min.; died before 24th Nov. 1579.]

ANDREW MYLNE (primus), was a 1579 Commissioner for Montrose at the first General Assembly 20th Dec.
 1560; min. at Stracathro with Dunlappie also in charge in 1567; schoolmaster at Montrose in 1569, where he taught James

Melvill; trans. to Dunnottar in 1574;
 pres. by James VI. 24th Nov. 1579;
 was a member of ten of the twenty-four Assemblies from April 1581 to March 1600;
 one of the Visitors to the College of Aberdeen in Oct. 1582; was so obnoxious to William Douglas, younger of Glenbervie, that he caused a watch to be placed on his house and threatened his life, which caused the Assembly to present a complaint to the King in 1587. He was one of ten selected by the ministry in
 Jan. 1589 for presenting petitions to the King and Council to prevent dangers threatened to the professors of the true religion. For his good, true, and thankful services done, King James VI. granted him the third of the benefice in 1601. He died 1605, "a learned, honest, kynd man, very skilful and diligent." He marr. Elspeth Chalmer, who died 26th Nov. 1610, and had issue—Andrew, min. of this parish.—

 College, Aberdeen; licen. by Presb. of Mearns Sept. 1688; had calls to Grange and Aboyne, but "the Committee of the Kirk coming North, anno 1694, defeated me." He intruded at Glenmuick Dec. 1697 to May 1698, and after spending some years as tutor to the sons of William, ninth Earl Marischal (one of his pupils becoming the famous Marshal Keith), he was settled in this charge 26th Dec. 1703; was required to give up the keys of the church 21st March 1705. He intruded afterwards at Brechin in 1709 and was forbidden to preach or exercise any part of the ministry within that parish under pain of 500 merks, and further declared incapable for seven years of any post or benefice in Scotland,
 fined 1000 merks and ordered to go to prison till payment. Instead of doing so, he and John Skinner assumed possession of the pulpit during the Jacobite Rising in 1715.

FORDOUN.

[The old church of Fordoun was dedicated to St Palladius. It was a mensal kirk of the Archbishop of St Andrews. The ancient building still stands, and has been restored so far as to allow of its use for burial purposes. It is about forty feet in length. John of Fordoun, the Chronicler, was priest of this parish in the fourteenth century. In the Friars' Glen at Drumtochty, within the bounds, a Priory of the White Friars was founded in 1402 by James Fraser of Frendracht. At Kincardine stood a chapel of St Katherine of Siena. There was a Well of St Palladius at Fordoun, where also a fair of St Palladius was held. Kincardine too had its yearly fair in honour of St Katherine of Siena. At Pitarrow in the parish, George Wishart the martyr was born in 1513. A granite obelisk was erected to his memory in 1850.]

JAMES GRANGER, M.A. (St Andrews 1626); became a preacher in Montrose 1640 rose in 1635; the Assembly passed an Act under which the Presb. were to take him on trials and to ordain him 6th Oct. 1640. In 1651 the "Honours" or Regalia of Scotland were committed for safe custody by the Earl Marischal to his own castle of Dunnottar, and George Ogilvie of Barras was placed in command. The castle was besieged by the English Parliamentary troops. When it ultimately surrendered in May 1652, the English general found that the Regalia were no longer there. They had been conveyed out of the castle in March by the minister's wife, and buried by her husband under the floor of Kinneff Church close to the pulpit. In 1660 they were dug up and restored to the King. According to all the evidence it was the Grangers who played the most prominent part in this patriotic act. On 11th Jan. 1661, an Act of Parliament granted to Mrs Granger a sum of 2000 merks Scots, "because she was most active in conveying the royall honnours . . . out of the castle . . . and that by her care the same was hid and preserved." It would appear, however, that she never received more than a fraction of the amount voted to her. G. died between 14th Jan. and 20th May 1663, aged about 57. His gravestone has the following commendatory lines:—

"Scotia Grangeri cui Insignia Regia debet
Servata hic cineres reliquiacq' jacent.
Abstulit obseaso pæne hæc captiva Dunotro,
Condidit et sacra qua tumulator humo.
Premia dant superi; patrii servator honoris
Sceptra rotat superos inter athleta chor . . ."

He marr. Christian Fletcher (who survived him and marr. (2) James Sandilands, first Lord Abercrombie), and had issue—John.
